BEERY IN ANGRY DENIAL

Petition Circulator Here Says No Misrepresentation Made; Marriott Not Acting.

Three new developments in the probe of alleged misrepresentation of Communist candidate petitions and fraud in obtaining signatures appeared today in Richland county and Ohio.

They are:

1 The Dies committee on Un-American activities asked Secretary of State George M. Neffner for permission to make copies of petitions and signatures seeking to qualify Communist candidates for the Ohio ballot.

2 M. J. Beery, rear 76 West Dickson avenue, who circulated a petition here, angrily and vigorously denied he obtained signatures by misrepresentation.

3 Prosecutor G. W. Marriott said he didn't know "whether there will be any investigation of the means used in getting signatures in Richland county or whether there are grounds for action in the matter."

Meanwhile, two more Mansfielders, Charles Hoffman, 23 High street, and Paul Benich, rear 16 John Long avenue, both signers of petitions, denied they are Communists, while Benich said he was told the petition was for the Bigelow pension plan.

Twelve of the 48 signatures of Legion Lauds Publication of Names on Red Petitions.

A resolution thanking The News-Journal for publishing the names of Richland county signers of Communist candidates' petitions for the state ticket was passed last night by Earl McVey post, American Legion, at its annual reorganization meeting.

Proposed by R. B. Gardner, retiring Ohio department commander of the American Legion, the resolution said the McVey post "concurs wholeheartedly with The News-Journal in its publishing of the names of signers of Communist petitions as an educational gesture."

Members of McVey post pledged their support in "bringing to light the names of persons and activities involved in subversive movements."

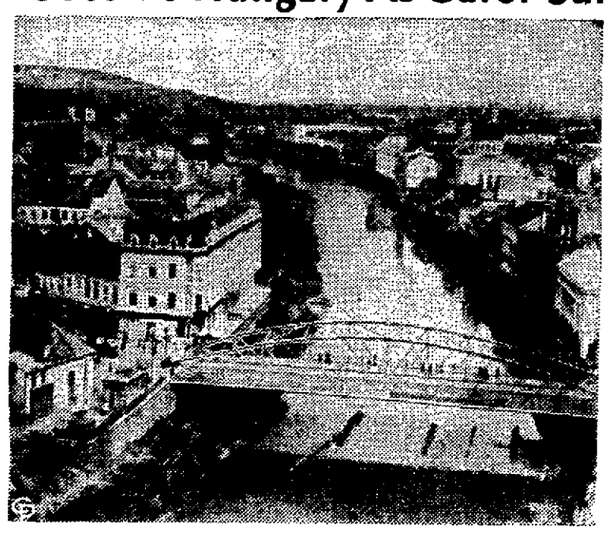
BODY FOUND

Two-Year-Old Girl Falls In Cincinnati Creek.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — An all-night search for missing two-year-old Rose Marie Brooks ended today with the finding of her body in industrial Millcreek.

Police said the child, last seen about 4:30 p. m. Wednesday playing near her home, either fell into the creek after crossing fields that separate it from the street or dropped from a rail trestle that crosses the stream at the point where the body was found.

Goes To Hungary As Carol Surrenders Power



This air view (left) shows the town of Oradea Mare, in Transylvania, which becomes the property of Hungary today under the terms of the cession of Rumanian territory. As the date of the cession, protested by much of Rumania's population, arrived, King Carol delegated much of his authority and power to Premier General Ion Antonescu (right). Antonescu is an Iron Guard (pro-Nazi) sympathizer, and will become virtual dictator. He has persuaded Carol to sign a decree abolishing the Rumanian constitution and parliament and conferring on Antonescu all essential royal prerogatives.

Fist Fight Enlivens House Draft Debate

Rep. Sweeney of Ohio Swings Punches At Vincent of Kentucky After Being Called 'Traitor'.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—With the spectacle of a hard-hitting fistfight on the floor to testify to the shortness of some tempers, the house began its final drive today for a decision on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill.

Two days of general debate over, the chamber settled down to consider the measure section by section and to act on the scores of pending amendments. The vote on conscription was expected tomorrow night or Saturday.

Sponsors of the bill, rechecking their strength, made sharp downward revisions in earlier predictions that it would pass by 150 votes. Although still insisting it would not be defeated, they said they now expected the bill's margin would be from 50 to 75 votes.

The tense feelings engendered by the conscription debate burst out into the open last night when the epithet "traitor" was spoken and the house beheld Rep. Vincent (D-Ky.) and Rep. Sweeney (D-O.) throwing punches at each other in the well of the chamber while the galleries looked on.

The fight followed a speech by Sweeney, in which he assailed conscription and accused President Roosevelt of seeking to embroil the United States in war.

In the course of the speech, Sweeney, who is 35, mentioned that the slogan during Woodrow Wilson's 1916 campaign was: "He kept us out of war."

"And the people believed it," he said, "and they returned that in-

RICHMOND, Ind. —(U.P.)— The decapitated body of a man tentatively identified as Jack Moore, 30, amateur golfer and cement salesman, was found early today beside a wrecked car on U. S. No. 35 near Webster.

Clarence Moore, Middletown, O., found the body when he investigated the wreckage of a car in a field near the roadside.

Vincent's Wife Gets Decree After 26-Year Marriage.

CODY, Wyo.—(AP) —Vincent Astor, head of one of America's wealthiest families, has been divorced by Mrs. Helen Dinsmore Astor, his wife for 26 years.

Mrs. Astor was granted a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty after a brief hearing yesterday before District Judge Percy W. Metz.

A secret property settlement between Astor, who inherited a $75,000,000 fortune, and his wife was arranged out of court.

The Astors, married April 20, 1914, have no children.

CITY SCHOOLS ENROLL 6,054

Officials Expect Last Year's Mark to Be Surpassed In Next Few Days.

Tentative public school enrollment figures revealed at the superintendent of school's office tended to show today that this year's enrollment in the Mansfield schools would show an increase over last year's total within the next few days.

Total enrollment for the first-day session was 6,054 as against 6,063, total enrollment for the year 1939-40.

With additional registrations sure to come within the next few days, this year's enrollment should exceed the 6,063 of last year, school officials stated.

At the close of the half-day session yesterday, the Senior high school had 1,306 names on its record books, the largest enrollment in its 13-year history.

First day's enrollment at Johnny Appleseed Junior high school was 662 and at John Simpson Junior high, 904.

Bowman street led the grade schools with 827 pupils attending the first day. Hedges was next with 439 and Newman following with 381.

Brinkerhoff enrolled 224, Bushnell 233, Carpenter 248, Prospect

Five Traded Destroyers Leave Port

Plunge Through Waves, Headed for Canada, British Navy.

(By International News Service)

BOSTON—Fully armed and armored, five U. S. destroyers were plunging through the rolling Atlantic today, presumably headed for a Canadian port as vanguard of the 50 over-age warcraft given Great Britain in exchange for American naval and air bases on British possessions in the western hemisphere.

The five vessels, each of 1,200 tons, are the Hale, the Aaron Ward, the Abel Upshur, the Welles and the Herndon.

The first three sailed from Boston last night, the latter two this forenoon, reportedly under orders which, when opened, are expected to direct them to a Canadian port.

Skeleton crews of American Bluejackets manned the maritime veterans of the first World war as they headed out to sea. Also aboard, according to unofficial navy yard reports, were torpedoes, anti-aircraft shells and depth charges. Crowds lining the shore cheered the departure.

British naval crews understood to be already en route to Canada there to take over the destroyers as units of the Royal navy.

Meanwhile, there was considerable activity at the Boston navy yard. Five other over-age destroyers, similar to those now headed northward, are being overhauled and militarized and their departure is believed only a matter of days.

U. S. GETS TOUGHER

SENATORS HIDE

Meet Secretly, Declare Almazan Mexican President.

MEXICO CITY—(NS)—Some 230 Almazanista senators and deputies were in hiding today after they met secretly and declared Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan president-elect of Mexico.

They acted in the name of the "general congress of the United Mexican states"—a rival of the official congress which has declared Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, administration candidate, the president-elect.

A score or more of the Almazanistas sought refuge in foreign legations after their congress issued a manifesto attacking President Lazaro Cardenas and his Mexican revolutionary party, and charging Almazan was duly voted into office in the recent presidential election.

The manifesto stated the people of Mexico are "resolved this time to defend their liberty of thought and action."

COMMONS HAS RECESS WHILE SIRENS BLOW

'We've Just Begun to Fight' Declares Churchill In Speech Today.

BRITAIN PREPARED

Anglo-American Trade Called 'Memorable Transaction' By Prime Minister.

BULLETIN

LONDON — (AP) — Winston Churchill, speaking in the midst of a general London air raid alarm, declared to the house of commons today that the British-United States agreement to trade destroyers and defense bases had won "the general satisfaction" of the peoples of both nations.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — While the air raid sirens wailed outside, Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the house of commons today that England had just begun to fight and that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's empire would some day disappear like that of Napoleon.

Churchill announced that 1,075 British civilians had been killed by German bombs in raids on the British Isles during the month of August. Injuries he said, were "slightly greater."

In a lengthy address in which he called the Anglo-American destroyer-naval base agreement as a "memorable transaction" which will enable the United States to "take danger by the throat" if Germany attempts invasion of the western hemisphere, Churchill said that England is ready for the worst that Hitler has to offer.

"Neither side has put out its full strength," he said.

"But the Germans have made a most substantial and important effort to gain mastery, and have certainly put forth a larger proportion of their total air strength than we have found necessary up to the present to employ against them.

"The attempts have proved costly to Germany. We must be prepared for heavier fighting this month, however.

"The need for the enemy to obtain a decision is very great and he should be able to multiply and

Tentative Rates Set For County's Taxing Districts

Tentative tax rates for next year had been approved today in a number of Richland county subdivisions, with most of them showing little change from the 1940 figures.

Tentative budgets and tax rates for the year have been submitted to all of the county's 41 subdivisions and must be approved or returned for revision by Sept. 10, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

Mansfield and Madison township rates may be unchanged in 1941, with the city rate remaining at 16 mills and the township rate at 13.60 mills, the auditor said.

Should a proposed one-mill operating levy be passed by voters in the city at the November elections, however, the rate would go up to 17 mills in Mansfield, Wolfe added.

A break-down of the city's rate shows that 8.10 mills goes to the schools, 4.87 mills to the city government, 2.5 to the county government, .40 of a mill to the Mansfield Conservancy district, and .13 of a mill to Madison township.

Lexington still has the highest rate in the county at 21.70 mills, although that figure represents a drop of .30 of a mill from this year.

The Shelby rate, tentatively set at 16.80 mills, will be down .20 of a mill from this year's figure.

In the village of South Boulevards the new will be 16.60 mills, including 8.70 mills for schools, 4.87 for operation of the village government, 2.50 mills to the county, .40 of a mill to the Mansfield Conservancy district, and .13 of a mill to Madison township.

150 Die During Armed Fighting In Transylvania

'Death Legion' Formed By Demobilized Soldiers To Defend Carol Line Against Hungarians; March Into Territory Starts.

(By Associated Press)

BUCHAREST—Reports reaching Bucharest today said more than 150 Hungarian and Rumanian peasants were slain in armed clashes in the border town of Sighet as the Hungarian army marched into northern Transylvania, ceded to Hungary by Rumania at direction of the Rome-Berlin Axis.

Unconfirmed reports from Cluj, on the Transylvanian border, today said that 3,500 demobilized Rumanian soldiers have volunteered for membership in a "death legion" to resist Hungarian occupation of the territory.

The men were said to have pledged to return to the concrete forts of the Carol line in the vicinity of Oradea which is not due to be turned over to Hungary until tomorrow.

Behind the fortress walls volunteers were reported ready to fight to the last man "to show the world that Rumania has courage."

A Rumanian official here asserted he had heard nothing of any organized resistance, but reports in Hungarian and Rumanian circles said a Colonel Strat would head the "death legion."

This, it was said, was regarded by Rumanian general staff as "a purely private undertaking."

Meanwhile Hungary's regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, astride a white horse, led the Hungarian army into Satu-Mare, on the Transylvanian border, early today, beginning occupation of the war-lost territory Hungary regained by the Vienna fiat of Germany and Italy.

The triumphal entry into the old frontier city started the Hungarian army's push toward the eastern Carpathians, ages-old barrier to invasion of central Europe from the east.

The 72-year-old regent thus symbolically inaugurated Hungary's new and enlarged role as the military ally of the Rome-Berlin Axis in protection of the Danubian basin against Russia.

The first unit of 2,000 men crossed into Transylvania as vanguard for an occupying force of 80,000.

By the arbitral award of the German and Italian foreign ministers at Vienna Aug. 29, Rumania handed back northern Transylvania, an area of more than 17,000 square miles with a population of some 2,500,000.

Horthy, wearing an admiral's uniform, formally accepted the city on behalf of Hungary in a square where jubilant Hungarians threw flowers until the principals stood knee-deep in roses.

Thirty thousand persons cheered as the regent arrived and applaud-

BOWS: King Carol Gives Up Power, Ousts Magda Lupescu

(By Associated Press)

BUCHAREST—Haggard from the struggle to preserve his dismembered, anarchy-riven realm, King Carol II, of Rumania, surrendered his vast powers of state today to a new strong man and was authoritatively reported to have consented to banishment of red-haired Magda Lupescu.

With the coming of the dawn, the 46-year-old monarch who had lived down the name "playboy prince" with a decade of strong-handed rule, reached a "royal understanding" with a tough, strategy-minded general, Ion Antonescu, whose price for succor was a transfer of power.

Carol signed a public declaration which was a clear acknowledgment that the essence of rule had changed hands and Antonescu proclaimed a nationalistic program "to heal the wounds, collect our strength and assure our future."

On high authority it was reported that Carol had bowed to the demand of the iron-willed, army-supported new premier that his friend Madame Lupescu (long credited with being a power behind the Rumanian throne) be banished from the troubled kingdom.

Carol found himself only the figurehead ruler of what had been left of Rumania after vast territorial cessions under pressure, to Soviet Russia and more recently to Hungary, which had the backing of the Rome-Berlin Axis.

Where once he ruled in the manner of a medieval monarch, Carol today held merely such powers as the right to hand out medals, coin money, pardon criminals and lay cornerstones.

The Carol-Antonescu bargain was reached about the time that

CHEERED: British Elated By Der Fuehrer's Loss of Nerve

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(NEA Staff Correspondent)

LONDON—Cheered by what they consider Chancellor Hitler's surprisingly revealed loss of nerve, the British people rose in spirit today to a point where it can be objectively reported that persons in authority and possessed of all necessary information are now perhaps for the first time sincerely confident not merely that Britain will be defended but that Germany will be defeated.

The most brilliant September in the memory of London provides an Indian summer background for Royal Aair Force victories at first doubted by a skeptical world but now confirmed by the most authoritative source conceivable—the fuehrer.

It can now be admitted that there have been times in the past when Hitler's speeches aroused if not fear then at any rate most sober consideration, and from the fall of Norway to the fall of France there was no inclination to smile at or deride his utterances.

This is the first time when without forcing it British authorities as well as the man in the street have been able both to smile at and deride Hitler for what they consider his "undignified exhibition of frustrated hate" in the Berlin sportpalast yesterday.

Now also for the first time neutral observers—some of whom could not be described as friendly to the British cause—are unanimous in the opinion that Germany no longer has a chance successfully to invade this country.

First Destroyers Leave Boston To Join British

DEVELOPS TEST FOR PROVING ABILITY IN ART

Wisconsin Professor Says He Can Determine Probable Success of Student.

MADISON, Wis.—(U.P.)—You may be a telephone pad Michaelangelo whose penchant for doodling springs from an unrealized fountainhead of genius great enough to startle the world of art. Or you may be a tyro artist who'll never be good enough even to be called a third-rater, a would-be sculptor who might be beter off carving out a career in the business world.

Who knows?

Well, for one, Professor William Varnum, chairman of the University of Wisconsin art education department, could essay considerably more than a shrewd guess as a result of an unique "artistic slide rule" he has devised for measuring talent.

He terms it a "scientifically mathematical" method of determining art aptitude.

Professor Varnum's method, a 45-minute examination designed to calculate an individual's sensisitivity to the basic art elements, wasn't created primarily for and won't be used exclusively in an attempt to discover that Rara Avis, the genius—who probably would discover himself anyway.

Perhaps, its greatest worth will lie in uncovering persons with fine potential art talent, as well as in weeding out the mediocre and in placing the misplaced student in the proper field.

His tests include matching rectangular figures, comparing various shaped barrels, placing dots in such a manner as to balance scattered black circles, recognizing the imagery suggested by an ordinary ink blot—all of which indicate to the professor a measurable degree of sensitivity to the basic art elements.

In one test the embryo artist is allowed to look for five seconds first at a circular and then at a square abstract color pattern, in which splashes of 15 different colors are scattered in jigsaw puzzle fashion. On a separate page the 15 are included in a group of 20 color panels. If the person tested selects the correct 15, he has the color memory a painter needs to be able to transfer what he sees to canvas.

Friendly House Asks Volunteer Working Staff

A call for volunteers for service at the Friendly House during the fall and winter was issued by Russell Gimbel, Friendly House director, today.

With enrollment expected to reach new heights during the coming year, Gimbel said he was hard-pressed for volunteers to aid in conducting classes and supervising clubs. Supervisors for boys' gym and wood-working classes are the most needed.

Already 35 children have registered for the kindergarten and if the number gets larger, youngsters will have to be placed on a waiting list, Gimbel said.

Registration for classes and clubs at the Friendly House got under way today and will continue throughout the week. Classes and clubs will begin activities on Sept. 30.

Community movies will also be shown at the settlement, beginning Friday, Oct. 4. The movies will be shown throughout the fall and winter on every Friday following.

Boy, 8, Becomes Encyclopedia On Railroads

ABERDEEN, Wash. —(U.P.)— The mind of freckle-faced Hugh Delaney, 8, runs to railroads.

So strongly does it turn in this direction that Hugh can name almost every railroad line in the United States, the terminals, important stops, fastest trains, and even such technical details as the amount of grease they use in the stuffing boxes.

National railroad executives are on his mailing list, for he carries on regular correspondence with some of the most important men in the industry.

He writes for maps and to anyone, asks for information on their railways and they reply readily.

The youth first lost his interested in railroads about two years ago. Since that time he has filled his rooms with books on railway history, traffic problems and geography. From this knowledge he often informs railroad agents here on some technical point, but he still dislikes mechanical work in school.

INVITES 47 TO SCHOOL HEARNG

County Superintendent Holds Hearings on Ganges Territory Transfer.

Boyd Robinson, county superintendent of schools, today invited 47 signers of a petition to transfer the Ganges school district to the Shelby district to confer with him and the county school board on the proposed transfer Friday night at the courthouse.

"There is no particular objection to the transfer, so far as I know," but we want the parents in the Ganges district to know what the transfer will mean to them," Robinson said.

Cards were mailed to all of the signers of the petition, asking them to attend the meeting at 8 p. m. Friday in the common pleas courtroom. Others will be asked to attend the meeting, the superintendent added.

The petition requesting the transfer was submitted last week to the county board, but the board tabled it at a meeting Saturday.

Robinson said the only difficulty in making the transfer now comes from the fact that a teacher has been employed for the year at Ganges, while the merger with the Shelby schools would mean closing of the Ganges school.

The Ganges school is now a part of the Union Rural district north of Mansfield. Approximately 30 pupils would be affected by the transfer.

STOCK MART ENCOUNTERS OPPOSITION

Selling Falls Off After Early Advance; Business News More Hopeful.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market encountered some selling opposition today after an early extension of Wednesday's advance.

At an active start gains ranged from 1 to around 2 points. These were reduced or cancelled near the second hour and dealings closed

As in the preceding session, brokers thought the main sustaining influence was the better outlook for the British in their battle with the Nazis.

In addition, business news remained more hopeful than otherwise. An impediment however was seen in dragging tax legislation and somewhat cloudier political skies

Among items scanned for market clues were

Reports from industrial regions indicated orders for durable goods have regained the ground lost since June

A Dun & Bradstreet summary disclosed another drop in the country's bank clearings due entirely to a sharp decrease in New York

The Bell system announced an upturn of 65,400 telephone stations in August, largest for any like month since 1936

DIES ASKS COPIES OF NAMES ON OHIO COMMUNIST PETITIONS

Communist petitions whose names were published two days ago in The News-Journal now have protested that their signatures were obtained by misrepresentation or that they did not know what they were signing.

The Dies committee request for permission to make copies

If your name was published as a signer of a Communist petition and you did not sign, your denial will be printed if you will call The News-Journal. In this way, you will also assist the Richland county election board in making its check for fraud. If you signed the petitions in the belief they were for something else than for the Communist party, your explanation will be published if you will call The News-Journal.

of the petitions will be granted, Neffner said. He suggested that the committee wait, however, until after the petitions have been checked by county election boards within a few days for the validity of signers.

Beery, head of the Richland county chapter of the Ohio Society of Old Age Pensioners, admitted today that he circulated one of the two petitions in Richland county, but he added vehemently: "Those fellows who say they thought they were signing old age pension petitions are yellow liars."

He said most of the signers read the petitions and all of them were told that "This is a petition to put names of Communist candidates for president, vice president, and state officials on the ballot this fall."

'Can't Understand.

Beery said he circulated Bigelow petitions in the county last fall, but he did not understand how signers could confuse them with the Communist petitions.

"I am not a Communist," Beery declared "I am a registered Democrat. I only circulated the Communist petition because I think this country is moving toward Fascism."

Beery added that he "would not want to say anything against the president, but I have no use for the Roosevelt-the-candidate and Willkie isn't much better. If any other candidate gets into the field, I'll vote for him. I'd be glad to vote for a Prohibitionist candidate for president."

"I'm all ready to go to court with this thing," he added. "I've got my bond ready and I've seen a lawyer Some of those people were pretty ignorant but they all had a chance to read the petition."

Beery charged The News-Journal with being "very unfair" in publishing the list of signatures on the petition.

"I think it is the intent of The News-Journal to frighten people into taking their names off the petition," he said "That paper is just working with Wall Street and the Fascist plan to get us into another war to make the world safe for democracy and to suppress the Communist party. This is just the first move in a well-laid plan"

Beery said the next step would be taken by the legislature which he thinks will attempt to outlaw the Communist party.

Wants To 'Find Time.'

Asserting that he 'hadn't given much thought to an investigation" of the means of getting signatures on the petitions, Prosecutor Marriott said he would go into the matter "when I find time."

Assistant Prosecutor Harold T. Lutz said he believed there is a basis for a criminal action against the circulator of a petition if there is proof he misrepresented the petition to get signatures. Lutz said, however, that he had not gone into the statutes for an opinion on the question.

(A Pittsburgh paper printed a similar list of Communist petition signers in daily installments about three months ago It resulted in the indictment of 43 petition circulators on charges of forgery.)

Statements from two more signers of the Communist petitions who denied they are Communists follow:

CHARLES HOFFMAN, 23 High street—"I signed the petition without reading it, but I am not a Communist and do not want my name to appear on the Communist petition. I have never voted the Communist ticket."

PAUL BENICH, R-16 John Long avenue—"I am not a Communist, never was and never will be I am a property owner and am well satisfied with the American form of government I was told the petition was for the Bigelow pension. I didn't read it."

REGISTRATION OF VOTERS ON BIG INCREASE

Activity of Candidates In City and County Brings Election Board Rush.

With scores of candidates and compaign workers already busy in the city and county, registrations of voters are beginning to show a big increase at the county board of elections, Walter Underwood, deputy clerk of the election board, said today

Registrations and transfers will be received at the election board office until Oct. 7. Absent voters ballots will be available Oct. 6, and they must be voted and returned by Oct. 31.

Democratic and Republican organization workers are waging a battle already over the youthful voters who will cast their first ballots this year. It is estimated that there are several hundred of them in the county. Assuming that a number of them have not made up their minds about their party affiliation, candidates and precinct workers on both sides are competing for their votes.

Residents of Mansfield who are of voting age must be registered to cast their ballots in November. Those who have failed to vote at the last two general elections must re-register to vote this fall

Also required to register are persons who have moved into the city since the last election.

Women who have changed their names through marriage and persons who have moved to another address in the city since voting last must transfer with the election board

Board officials expect the total registration to set a record in the county this year, possibly passing the 20,000 mark The previous high was 19 000 two years ago.

CRESTLINE- Two high school teachers were appointed by the board of education Tuesday night to fill vacancies caused by recent resignations.

Miss Evelyn Stark of Sunbury, an Ohio Wesleyan graduate, was named physical education instructor for girls, succeeding Miss Pauline Ruth Shultz of Galion who resigned because of illness.

Leonard Hill, who has been principal at Derby, O., succeeds Roscoe Baker who has a position in the new national defense setup.

Floyd Kreps was employed as an assistant bus driver, and bonds of drivers George Glauer, Clyde Thrush and Marion White were accepted.

LEGION BOASTS MEMBER RECORD

Number of Posts Also Grows to New Mark, National Commander Reports.

BOSTON—(INS)—It's 22 years now since the World war ended, and the doughboys who fought in it are graying about the temples, but the American Legion, the organization which grew from the war is getting more vigorous.

Instead of dwindling, the Legion is growing, according to National Commander Raymond J. Kelly.

Membership this year on the eve of the American Legion's 21st annual convention in Boston Sept. 23 to 26, totals 1,054,267, highest enrollment in its history. It surpasses the former record of 1,053,909 established in 1931, the year after the last Boston convention of the American Legion.

Also, the number of American Legion posts today totals 11,673, the greatest number on record.

Says Kelly: "These figures show that the American Legion has not yet reached its prime of life; that its hour of greatest destiny still lies ahead; that it has a future of service to God and Country that will be even more glorious than its past."

Kelly said that of 4,764,071 men in the American forces during the World war, 4,000,000 are estimated to be surviving and there are very few veterans who at one time or another had not worn the American Legion button.

YELLED 'WOLF'

MOBILE, Ala.—(INS)—"Call the cops!" demanded H. M. Hufstuttler, of Palestine, Tex., when he awoke in a Mobile tourist camp. His wallet had disappeared. The cops came. But, meanwhile, Hufstuttler had searched the cabin again. He found the missing wallet. It contained $124, and had been mislaid between the bed sheets. Huffstettler thanked the cops for their unnecessary efforts.

GETS HEALTH AID

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(U.P.)—The Alabama state health department has lent one of its women health experts to the island of Puerto Rico to assist in organization of a maternal and child welfare program. Dr. Eva F. Dodge, associate in charge of the department's division of maternal hygiene, was selected by the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

BABY BILLED

FALL RIVER, Mass.—(U.P.)—When Arthur C. Grantham, jr., received a $2 poll tax bill his father was amazed. The child is only 8 months old.

DIVERTING EVENTS SAVE TOWN FROM USUAL SUMMER BOREDOM

RACINE, Wis.—(U.P.)—So far, it's been an eventful summer in Racine. The following incidents have been reported in rapid succession:

First there was the modest young man who lost his bathing trunks while swimming near a Lake Michigan beach which teemed with girls. "Help," shouted the resourceful youth. When, fortunately, a husky male lifeguard responded, he explained his predicament. The sympathetic lifeguard swam back to shore, then returned with the only garment he had been able to find.

Soon a red-faced youth emerged from the surf and slunk past a large and hilarious crowd—clad in a little girl's skirt.

In somewhat the same vein, there's the one about the very young man whose mother tied him to a back-yard post by a rope secured to his pants. A short time later neighbors found the young liberty-lover strolling along the street, sans rope, sans trousers, sans self-consciousness.

One more disfobing episode—it involved a Racine driver whose feet hurt. He took off his shoes. A minute later, as he ounded a curve, his foot slipped off the brake pedal and his automobile crashed into a house.

The last tale smacks of Mark Twain, but in Racine they swear it's true. During recent heavy rains, a tavernkeeper found a large hollow in his back yard filled with water. For a joke, he and a friend were photographed, "fishing" from a canoe afloat in the pond.

The picture was displayed over the tavern bar, where a couple of tourists saw it. They asked the tavernkeeper whether there really were fish in the pond.

It teemed with fish, he solemnly assured them, whereupon they rented a canoe, armed themselves with bait and tackle, and repaired to the tavernkeeper's back yard.

They reported a haul of "bottle bass."

CAROL BOWS TO NEW DICTATOR

Banishes Magda Lupescu From Rumania; Prepares To Be Figurehead.

the vanguard of 80,000 Hungarian soldiers planted their banners in Transylvania, the province which Rumania won in the World war settlement and about half of which Hungary regained at Vienna last week with the backing of Germany and Italy.

Out of the all-night conference in Carol's heavily guarded palace—where shots were fired Tuesday night in a futile attempt at assassination—58-year-old General Antonescu emerged today, victor in a virtual coup d'etat accomplished by words alone.

Close associates said the new dictator had fashioned his own pattern for rule, ignoring "the foolish trappings of monkey-like imitations."

One of the general's first acts after taking oath as premier at dawn was to order the arrest of General Bangliu who, as chief of gendarmes, supervised the mass execution of the Iron Guard assassins of former Premier Armand Calinescu. Bangliu was Calinescu's brother-in-law.

At the same time Antonescu issued a proclamation which made clear that "persecution" of the Carol-outlawed Iron Guard (a Fascist organization) would cease at once.

The proclamation inferred that members of the Iron Guard who organized Monday night's putsch and were accused of the attempt to assassinate Carold would not be punished, although not a member of the Iron Guard, Antonescu has its support.

In mid-morning Antonescu summoned all members of the outgoing Gigurtu cabinet to acquaint them with his plans and discuss the "state of the nation." An hour later he rushed to the German and Italian legations. At noon he issued orders regarding the Rumanian press and only then did he begin the actual work of forming his cabinet.

Mme. Lupescu, with whom Carol went to live in exile upon abandoning his rights to the throne in the late 20's, was reported in court circles to be aboard the royal yacht anchored now at Istanbul, having left the capital four days ago.

These reports circulated soon after parliament was dissolved and the constitution suspended by royal decree to pave the way for Antonescu's assumption of a virtual absolute dictatorship.

In the long night session during which Carol and the new strong man were closeted behind locked doors, the king told his premier-designate he would abdicate if Mme. Lupescu had to be banished, Rumanians said.

Whether he had dropped this attitude was not immediately clear.

Mme. Lupescu is bitterly opposed by both the Iron Guard and the army, organizations which have jumped to new power in the wake of popular opposition to Rumania's cession under direction of the Rome-Berlin Axis of northern Transylvania to Hungary.

Bullets Cancel 2 Convicts From List of 'Wanted'

COLUMBIA, La.—(AP)—Bullets today cancelled two more convicts' names from the "wanted" list of Arkansas' wholesale, Labor day prison break.

State patrol headquarters at Little Rock announced guards from the Cummins prison farm shot to death two of the fugitives in a gunfight in rural southeastern Arkansas, and reported recapture of another felon.

Patrol Radio Operator Luke Barber said those killed in a battle at a cabin between Winchester and Tillar were James Scott, 21, and Raymond Harrell, 23. He said the man recaptured was B. G. Holtzclaw, 47, a convicted slayer. ..

This left at large only 11 of the 36 men who broke from the Cummins farm Monday after killing a guard. Four have been shot to death, 21 recaptured.

Plan Picnic — Central Methodist church Sunday school will have a covered-dish picnic Saturday at 6 p. m. at South park. In event of rain the picnic will be held at the church. The committee will supply the beverage and dessert.

Get Contract — R. O. Darling and Son, Mansfield contractors, today were awarded a contract for constructing a storm sewer along Indiana avenue in Lincoln Heights on their low bid of $868.30. The award was made by county commissioners.

Reports Theft of Oil—Ralph E. Horton, agent for the Sinclair Refining company, today reported to Sheriff E. P. Long the theft of 24 quarts of motor oil from the firm's bulk station on Longview avenue. Horton said entrance to the building was made through a window that had been broken open.

Reports Theft — Theft of $30 worth of building supplies from a house he has under construction on Maumee avenue near Trimble road was reported to police yesterday by Edward Getz, 141 Wolf avenue, contractor.

Driver Fined—Pleading guilty in municipal court today to a charge of having insufficient lights on his car, Fred McDonough, 619 East Longview avenue, was fined $20 and costs. State highway patrolmen said they arrested him last night on U. S. route 30-S while parked on the highway without lights on his car.

Cash income of United States farmers from marketing of products in 1939 is estimated at $7,711,000,000.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

STATE PATROL SHOWS PERFECT ARREST RECORD

94 Arrests Made In August and 94 Were Convicted, Corporal Says.

A perfect record on convictions during August for the Mansfield Highway patrol was announced today by Corp. C. F. Strayer, officer in charge of the Mansfield station

According to the August report, 94 were arrested by the patrol and 94 convictions obtained for a 100 per cent record.

The report stated that 33 were arrested for unsafe driving, 22 for speeding, 15 for failure to obey stop signs, five for driving while intoxicated, and 19 for other infractions of traffic laws.

Also a total of 50 accidents were investigated by the patrol during the month. Four involved fatalities, 22 injuries and 24 property damage.

Total number of people killed in the accidents was 4, total number injured, 52, total property damage, $11,039.

The report, as drawn up by Strayer, showed that the greatest number of accidents occurred on Sunday when traffic is heaviest.

Altogether, 15 accidents happened on Sundays during the month, causing injury to 25 people.

Next worst days to travel, according to the report, were Saturdays a total of 13 accidents occurring on those days with six injuries.

Two of the four fatal accidents during the month happened on Mondays.

Lists Chief Causes.

As outlined by Strayer, chief causes of the accidents were driving on the left side of the road, going too fast to stop, slippery roads during wet weather, and failure to obey stop signs.

The most dangerous hours to travel, the report stated, were at 1 a. m., 11 a. m., and 4 p. m. Most of the accidents happened at these times

Route 42 proved to be the most hazardous highway to travel during August, with 10 accidents; Route 30-N was next with seven, and Route 30-S next with six.

CHAPTER X

"Carol, if I could kiss you into forgetting Alan, love you into forgetting him . . . Do you think I have nothing more to do than to think up ways to be with you?"

She said, "No!" and her voice shook. Not only was her own voice strange to her, but her thoughts and feelings, as if suddenly she had become a different person — not Carol Tallant who was going to marry Alan but a girl who felt that her safe plateau had risen to high, heady heights. She tried to find Carol Tallant again, to feel safe and secure and happy . . .

If she could shrug the hand from her shoulder and be so fiercely angry that anger would obliterate everything else . . . But she was neither fiercely angry nor ashamed as the smoke in her mind cleared and she saw again the fat little bird enjoying his bath. The girl she had been, the girl who had been a little smug, had been shed as if she were but an outer skin.

When she turned, Norman kissed her into forgetting Alan . . . and into loving him . . .

At the sound of a car stopping they stood apart; they saw Edwina's slim white figure, her face and bare legs deeply tanned, emerge from her car and hurry up the steps to the veranda just as Benson brought out the luncheon.

"Hello," Edwina said in her characteristic careless, friendly fashion. "I heard you had a spill this morning, Norman. Thought I might be able to help you with your typing. I do type, believe it or not.

"Hello," she said to Carol. "Are you the nurse?"

Norman said, "Temporarily. Dr. Tallant fixed me up and Carol drove me out. Well, luncheon is ready. Won't you stay, Edwina? Benson will put a place for you."

"No, thanks. I've had luncheon. I'm going into town and I can take you in, Carol, if you're leaving shortly."

"Yes, I am," Carol said, scarcely trusting her voice.

Norman had not overpraised Benson's cooking but Carol had little appetite and did not trust her hands. Edwina curled up in a chair and lighted a cigaret and Norman, in command of himself and the situation, spoke easily of casual things.

Did Edwina, sensitive and alert, sense the tension, Carol wondered. Carol did not look at Norman though she knew that she would never get enough of looking at him in the little time that was left. A chance acquaintance, a charming companion . . . and now a lover. A day that had begun as hundreds of days had begun was a day different from all others . . . as if lightning had struck, killing all that was old and bringing not only a new day but a new life. Explain it, reason with it, analyze it? You couldn't. Love was . . . love was as uncertain as the wind and the tides. And love had an ironic sense of humor. She thought: He doesn't love Edwina. He loves me. I'll tell Alan. I must tell him . . .

"I hope we're still going to New York," Edwina said. She looked at Carol. "Norman and I are motoring up in two weeks. I suppose I'll do the driving now. He has business there and I can always think of some reason to go to New York."

"My wrist should be okay in two weeks. I wouldn't trust you to do the driving, Edwina. We'd land either in the hoosegow or in a ditch. Doesn't this dessert tempt you?"

"Food never tempts me, darling. I value what nature was kind enough to give me. I hate to hurry you, Carol, but I've a date with Amy Durfee and she has so little time to herself I hate to keep her waiting. I'll probably shock her when I turn up in bare legs. About my typing, Norman, I'll come over tomorrow and help you."

"Thanks. It will help. I'm bad enough with two hands."

Carol had come reluctantly and now she was leaving with a feeling of sadness, as if this were the most difficult parting she had ever known. Norman walked between her and Edwina to the car and stood a moment, tall and splendid looking against the sun, as Edwina started the motor.

It was only for an instant that his eyes and Carol's met with all the tender things in them they could not say and yet she felt so sure of them that it was as if she had heard them and said them . . . "You kissed me into loving you, Norman. While a little bird was frisking in his bath, you changed my world and my heart. It may be a world slightly gone mad but people are still falling in love and getting married and building houses and having babies in spite of it—because you and I must tell Alan. That's all I know now. Perhaps it's wrong. I don't know. Perhaps I shouldn't feel happy or feel that I look loved and loving . . ."

When they were on the open road, Edwina said, "I'll have to stop at home for a second. I forgot to tell Mary about guests for dinner."

Presently the car passed between two stone pillars and climbed upward, stopping in the driveway before the great white house that was like a child's dream of a castle out of a fairy tale. The old gardener working among the flowers straightened his back as Edwina hurried past him, calling out, "It's too hot for that now, Sam. Do it when it's cooler."

Times, like her past and the girl she had been, escaped Carol. She had never felt like this with Alan and she knew now in an overwhelming awakening that all she had felt for him was tenderness and appreciation and admiration, not this singing feeling that was like a warm current, demanding and insatiable. Her mind seemed emptied of everything except Norman as she thought: I might have lived my whole life through and missed this. I called love by other names, wrong names. I must tell father, too. Funny, it doesn't matter what any one will say or think. When shall I see him again? When shall we make complete what Edwina's coming left so incomplete . . .?

When Edwina returned she said, "Sorry to keep you waiting." When they passed out between the stone pillars, she said, "I'm awfully glad that my being Alan's ex-wife doesn't make us enemies. I know how he feels about me. I can't much blame him. But a person of his potentialities shouldn't hold a grudge."

Her dark head turned. "I'm in love with Norman, Carol. I'm going to marry him."

Lightning striking twice in the same day . . .

Carol kept her voice low. "You're going to marry him?"

"Yes. This time I'm making no mistake. I hope I've finished with mistakes and gypsy wandering. Thank God I have the sense now to see what's best for me, for any girl. Maybe we'll reached the advanced stage of civilization where you and Alan will come to dinner and we'll talk about our children."

Lightning striking twice in the same day, obscuring the sun and reducing her, Carol, to a small trembling thing . . . In a tight voice she gave Edwina directions to her house and then thanked her for bringing her.

And Edwina drove away thinking that perhaps she should have added, "I'm going to marry him—if he'll have me. He hasn't asked me yet—but I know he will. He's got to. I know he likes me a lot." Nor would she permit Carol's radiant loveliness or her being with him today to cloud her sunny optimism. Everything was going to work out all right. Everything was going to be fine. She had the luck of the Irish again and a four-leaf clover.

On the way to town she whistled merrily like a boy.

Carol closed the door of her room, sank into the chintz-covered chair and covered her face with her hands. No one would ever know how much she cried or how bitterly she accused herself. Norman was going to marry Edwina and she, Carol, had been like a naive schoolgirl, had misinterpreted an ardent touch and an ardent kiss . . .

Suddenly she despised him as much as she despised herself for a kiss they had no right to, a kiss that had been a stolen thing. What she had hated all her life, clandestine things, things of dark corners and lies, she and Norman had done today in a high, mad moment. Yet all the while she knew that she did not despise him as much as she loved him.

No one would ever know that either. As a chest forever locked, no one would ever know that for an hour she had been more in love than she had ever been in her life with the man Edwina Burke was going to marry. That seemed so right and proper, Norman and Edwina, both children of fortune. An hour for her—but a lifetime for Edwina who had finished with mistakes.

She would not tell Alan now. When she thought of him, his kindness, his tenderness, his generosity, she felt that she had robbed him of what was truly his. Yes, love had an ironic sense of humor. For an hour today it had almost destroyed that upon which Alan and Edwina were building their loves.

She dried her eyes and rested her head on the back of the chair. Everything was the same. Alan was coming tonight to take her into town for dinner, and tomorrow she would go swimming at the quarry with Ellen. Nothing changed. If they met again, Norman would be his charming self and it might occur to him to say, "Edwina and I are going to be married," or "We were pretty stupid that day, weren't we? I'm sorry . . ."

The ringing of the telephone was a shrill scream tearing into the quietness of the room. Was it Alan? Alan for whom nothing was changed?

3 Weeks on Vendol Relieved Local Nurseryman Much Pain

Had taken everything recommended to him for troubles in stomach due to constipation. Says nothing ever gave as much relief as Vendol.

MR. J. C. MARSHALL

"I had been suffering for years from constipation which caused untold agonies in my stomach and had taken everything recommended to me for my troubles," says Mr. J. C. Marshall, the well known Nurseryman and Landscape Gardener of 66 Heineman Blvd., who has done some big jobs here in Mansfield and elsewhere. "But it's a positive fact that about three weeks ago I started taking Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets and I've gotten more relief than from anything else I ever tried. This medicine is truly great.

"I read what people said about Vendol so got a bottle. It helped me so I got more and today I'm feeling fine. It relieved my constipation thoroughly so now I eat anything I want but never suffer from sour stomach, acid risings or gas. I used to feel bloated, had shortness of breath and "heartburn" but no more.

"I also used to feel dizzy at times, spots danced before my eyes, had a bad taste in my mouth and a coated tongue but when Vendol relieved the constipation all these troubles were also relieved. I'm glad to endorse Vendol and feel sure it will help anyone suffering the same as I did."

Vendol is sold by most all leading druggists everywhere and is highly recommended here by Central Drug Store, corner Main and 4th Streets.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1940.

Understand Before You Sign

QUICK repudiation of communistic affiliation or support by a considerable percentage of Mansfield residents whose names appear on Communist party petitions filed in the office of the secretary of state, indicate that the same sort of chicanery disclosed elsewhere in Ohio was used in securing signatures here.

It will be noted that practically all persons quoted in yesterday's News-Journal made it clear that the petition was represented as intended to secure greater pension benefits, higher wages or lower taxes, and that there was no intimation the petition was intended to place a Communist party ticket on the November ballot.

Whatever else may come of these revelations, they should at least tend to make people more careful about signing petitions, at least to the extent of making sure that they fully understand the intent of the petition and favor its purpose.

Of the 58 names which appeared on Communist party petitions from Mansfield and Richland county, ten were illegible scrawls and 12 of the remaining 48 have already disavowed intent to sign a Communist petition. The News-Journal continues its willingness to print the statement of any of the remaining 36 whose names were on the petitions, in the event any of these did not sign the petition or did not understand what they were signing.

For the information of Communist party petition-signers, and any others who may not understand the full import of the communist movement in the United States, the following explanation of the purposes of Communism, as given by the Dies congressional committee investigating subversive activities, is herewith reprinted:

1—Abolition of all forms of religion.

2—Destruction of private property rights and inheritances.

3—Social and racial equality.

4—Revolution under the leadership of the Communist Internationale.

5—Engaging in activities in foreign countries (other than Russia) in order to cause strikes, riots, sabotage, bloodshed and civil war.

6—Destruction of all forms of representative and democratic government, including civil rights, free speech and free press.

7—Ultimate object of world revolution to establish dictatorship of so-called proletariat into a union of Soviet Socialist Republics, with the capital in Moscow.

8—The achievement of these ends through extreme violence and hatred.

"Definition: Communism may be defined as an organization which works for the overthrow, by force or violence, of countries not under control of Communists, and to establish in place a regime termed "Proletarian dictatorship," and to substitute a system of communal ownership for private."

In whatever glamorous robes of beautiful idealism the academic theories of communism may be clothed by its parlor-pink adherents among the so-called "intelligentsia," or however appealing these theories may be made to appear to that unfortunate minority of persons who are inappreciative of the privileges of democracy or are incapable of meeting the responsibilities of self government—the fact remains that Communism is unalterably opposed to the principles of human freedom and individual opportunity upon which the United States of America was founded and upon which it operates.

The rights accorded minorities, under the Constitution, should at no time be misconstrued by ANY MINORITY as license to impose its alien "isms" on that vast majority of Americans who are loyal to their country and its form of government.

Call Guardsmen for Training

THE NATION'S citizen-soldiers, the national guard, have been called by the president for peace-time training. Units from 28 states, totaling 60,500 men and officers, are to report September 16 for one year of active service. Other units will be called later. Ohio units expect a call to report October 16. The country does not have facilities for handling the entire national guard immediately.

This is another "first" in the history of the United States. It is a concrete step toward raising the size of the standing army from its present 289,000 men to 1,200,000. Guardsmen who recently took part in army maneuvers gave good account of themselves and proved in advance their value to national defense. Later, when conscription is adopted, trained and seasoned guardsmen will help to train the selected service men.

None of these moves should be feared as evidence that the nation is becoming militaristic or surrendering any of its real democracy. They mean only an awakening to new perils menacing national security and acting sensibly to meet and counteract them. These steps are being taken by a free people for the purpose of maintaining freedom.

Restrict Parking To One Side

WHEN most of Mansfield's streets were platted, back in the horse-and-buggy days, the motor age was undreamed of and there was no apparent future need for wider streets than were then provided.

Now the situation is quite different and Mansfield has a number of residence streets so narrow that when cars are parked on both sides only a one-way lane is left between.

So, in the interest of public safety, it becomes necessary for city council to designate certain additional streets on which parking will hereafter be permitted only on one side.

This cannot all be done at once, as was indicated by Traffic Committee Chairman Croak in presenting the list of streets to be immediately restricted. The same ban is important on a number of other narrow streets and further action should be as prompt as practicable.

Word comes that a Fremont confectioner has opened his store at 5 a. m. and closed it at 11 p. m. every day since November 15, 1902—not "long hours," but a lot of them.

It is assumed that while President Roosevelt is inspecting defenses he will not overlook any political fences that may need attention.

Standing 5-ft. 6 inches, Hitler is four inches taller than Napoleon—and he also seems to have bigger ideas.

It is less important that a middle-aged woman should tell her age than that she act it.

THE NEW BOULDER DAM

Listen, World!

Let's Laugh!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT this country needs more than anything else right now is an epidemic of bellylaughs!

No, I'm not heartless. I know we're on a tough spot and it's going to get tougher. But I'm convinced that it's as much our duty to be cheerful and keep cool as it is to prepare munitions and train men.

For something much more important than America's efficiency is on trial these days. Our whole way of life is on trial . . . our democratic plan of freedom, friendliness and fair play. That plan is opposed to everything Hitler believes in and desires. Where we honestly believe in democracy and individualism he, as sincerely, believes in discipline, despotism and regimentation. Who's right? Which plan produces happier, healthier results . . . for which a proud, high-hearted man be more willing to live—or to die? There's an argument we can't settle with bombs or blitzkriegs. There's only one way we can answer it and that's with CHEERFULNESS.

IF AMERICA HAS THE BETTER DOPE ON THIS BUSINESS OF HUMAN EXISTENCE, THEN WE SHOULD SAY IT WITH LAUGHTER!

We should laugh in the face of danger, even, if need be, in the jaws of death, because we know a higher pride and gratitude, hope and happiness, than Hitler and his mechanized robots have ever glimpsed. We should make the whole world envious through the warmth and audacity of our good cheer.

Laughter isn't new in this country. It is our oldest and most potent "white magic." There's a soggy theory that America was built entirely on tears, sweat and blood, faith, prayers and lusty blows. Nothing doing! It was built on the deep, rollicking, robust glee of a young, adventurous people. Their days were short, their years were few, their tools against tragedy were even fewer. Poverty, danger and disease dogged their reckless heels from the cradle to the grave. But they had one weapon which neither Red-Coat nor Red Skin could beat—

THEY HAD LAUGHTER! AND THEY USED IT!

Yes, I know. These are grim times. We must prepare—and plenty. And stay prepared. Okay let's hop to it. But let's not limit our preparedness to stupid steel and insensate dynamite. If we must arm ourselves against fear let's use the most potent force that it within our power—

LET'S USE LAUGHTER!

IF WE HAVE TO GET A GUN, LET'S ALSO GET A GRIN!

Let's bring back that humor, that cocky, high-heartedness which was once going America's chief asset. Let's bring back the grin that dumped the tea in Boston Harbor and wisecracked through the snows of Valley Forge. We're grown dull and stodgy—and afraid—with the years of prosperity, we Americans. We've forgotten the valiant faith and gaiety of our lean, young years.

Let's go back to that faith and fun! Let's stop thinking that Pain and Pleasure and Profit are the great realities of life. Let's remember that we have the happiest heritage of hope God ever gave a nation . . . the cleanest pride . . . the finest friendliness. Let's realize that such things—hope and health, happiness and pride—are far more real and natural than disaster and disease. And realizing this—LET'S LAUGH!

LET'S LAUGH AS OUR FATHERS LAUGHED BETWEEN BOUTS OF BATTLE—AND LETS SEND THAT LAUGHTER BOOMING AND BILLOWING UP TO THE VERY THRONE OF GOD . . . IN A CHEER . . . IN A PRAYER . . . IN A ROAR OR TRIUMPH!

Editor News-Journal:

A recent experience with the Mansfield police department was one to make certain Middletown, O., residents feel kindly toward the city and especially this group of public servants.

Labor day, with its accompanying traffic worries to any police force, did not find Mansfield officers too busy to answer a request to keep on the look-out for a Kentucky car so that an urgent message could be given its occupants.

The same request was made of other cities between Middletown and Mansfield, but it was not until the car arrived in Mansfield that the message was delivered. It meant more than two hours of waiting before patrolmen spotted the travelers (not an easy thing on a holiday with traffic clogging a main highway) but they got their man and fulfilled their duty.

Such efficiency and courtesy, resulting in vital information reaching its destination, warmed the sender of the message toward Mansfield and its police, who evidently draw no fine line between duty and an obliging act.

It is comforting to know that if anything should go wrong after some member of the family has left the city, contact can easily be made—if the direction leads to Mansfield. It may be true in many cities, but Mansfield proved it.

This Is Ohio

OHIO was the birthplace not only of the first airplane to fly, but also of the first one purchased by the United States government for military service.

It was on July 27 1909, that Orville Wright and his late brother Wilber made a public test of the plane at Kitty Hawk. President Taft was among the witnesses at the trial. With Orville at the controls, the plane remained aloft one hour, twelve minutes and 40 seconds, covering some 50 miles at a speed of about 40 miles an hour.

In another test three days later the plane flew from Fort Myer to Alexander, Va., and return. The speed was more than 42 miles per hour. Three days later the plane was accepted and a $5,000 bonus was added to the $25,000 paid the Wrights.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

Why Do We Call It a "Posy?"

Amorous token, "posy," though colloquial in flavor, is nevertheless correctly in general use for flower, bouquet or nosegay.

"Posy" is a contraction for "poesy," generic name for a loving sentiment or motto, such as the old-time inscription on the inside of a ring.

Since a gift of flowers from a man to a maid frequently was accompanied by such a posey the term eventually came to cover the blooms, too, and ultimately it was applied to them independently of any written message.

Army M-Day Price Plan Revised; May Decentralize Arms Industry

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The much-discussed M-day Plan of the Army, covering economic mobilization in the event the country becomes involved in a war, has quietly undergone drastic revision—the fourth since the plan first appeared in 1931.

Neither the European war nor Hitler's totalitarian methods, however, were responsible for the latest change. What forced it were certain economic studies made by experts of the monopoly investigating committee of congress, known officially as the Temporary National Economic Committee (TNEC), which shattered one of the M-day Plan's basic principles.

The plan contemplates a system of rigid price controls, particularly on commodities, in order to prevent profiteering and disruption of the civilian economy. Under the 1939 version the price of wheat, for instance, would have been fixed at a low figure. Now selling at 60 cents a bushel, wheat would be pegged at around that price.

TNEC experts, backed by AAA officials, objected to this. They pointed out to the army that not only would this be highly unfair to farmers, but it would help throw the economic system out of kilter by reducing farm purchasing power and also discouraging further raising of grain at a time when it was urgently needed.

Farmer's Gain.

THE economists advocated that this price fixing aspect of the plan be junked, and instead that established governmental agencies, familiar with the farm problem, be utilized to handle price and production questions. Strengthened by the broad powers granted in the plan, these agencies could see that justice was done to the farmer while at the same time prices were kept in hand.

The army agreed and this revision, which in the event of war would mean hundreds of millions of dollars to farmers, was incorporated in the plan.

Another TNEC recommendation incorporated in the plan is for the "spacing" of war orders. The army and navy have thousands of orders all ready to shoot the moment the country goes to war. Hundreds of plants, under the "educational order" system in operation for several years, have machinery ready to produce the arms, munitions and other materials that will be needed.

TNEC experts pointed out that a deluge of such orders would have serious economic repercussions. They advised a "spacing" system under which prices and supplies could be more easily controlled without impairing the production of goods.

Advise Decentralizing.

THE TNEC also was responsible for the recent change in army specifications permitting manufacturers to bid F. O. B. factory instead of F. O. B. point of destination.

TNEC studies of army purchasing methods showed that under this old practice a premium was placed on concentrating key industries in dense and highly vulnerable locations. Factories in the interior were at a disadvantage, and the army's buying methods operated against developing them.

The experts strongly advised that place of production and not destination be made the basis for bidding. This would develop interior plants and also, by increasing competition, have an important effect on keeping down prices.

Note—The TNEC study on government purchasing methods is now being printed. It should be highly interesting reading.

Hog-Tied.

SENATOR "The Man" Bilbo scored an easy primary victory last week (equivalent to election in Mississippi), but he didn't escape being heckled.

Some Mississippi voters wanted to know why Bilbo was traipsing around on the hustings and not in Washington voting on the important defense legislation.

This challenge didn't faze Bilbo a bit. Equipped with a ball-bearing tongue and imperturable, he is never at a loss for an answer. Quick as a flash he shot back:

"I don't have to be in Washington. I've got things fixed up so I make my influence felt in the senate whether I'm there or not. I've got a pair with Senator Bob Taft, the meanest, most reactionary Republican up there, and folks, that pair has got him tied up tighter than a tick. He can't do anything, because I've got him hog-tied for fair."

Talented Protege.

ONE of the greatest patronage wranglers in American history was former Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, co-author of the famous Smoot-Hawley tariff act and now an apostle of the Mormon church. As chairman for many years of the powerful senate finance committee, he built up a network of high and low office-holding henchmen who permeated every agency of the government.

One of Smoot's Utah proteges was Edgar B. Brossard, whom he installed on the tariff commission. Brossard has now been a tariff commissioner for 15 years at $10,000 a year. And although his patron, Smoot, was eliminated from the senate in 1932, Smoot's example apparently is still fresh in Brossard's mind.

For he has quietly built up one of the juiciest nepotism lists in Washington. Being childless, Brossard has no children of his own on the government payroll. But a flock of nieces and nephews—eight, to be exact—draw government pay totaling $12,420 a year.

In Who's Who in the Nation's Capital, Brossard notes his chief hobby as "Humanitarian work of encouraging and helping those in need of it."

Congressional Names.

THE name of Bankhead has been on the congressional roles uninterruptedly for more than half a century. Originator of the celebrated Alabama dynasty was the late Speaker John Bankhead, who served in both houses from 1896 to 1920. Speaker William Bankhead, his son, has been in the house 24 years, and brother John has been a senator since 1930 . . . With the exception of Jones—of which there are only two—congressional names are the same in frequency as in the average telephone book. Largest number of members with the same name are Smiths, with Johnsons second. Third place is a four-way tie among the Allens, Browns, Kennedys and Martins . . . Oddest name in congress is that of Representative Edouard Victor Michel Izac of San Diego, Calif. Of French descent, Izac is an Annapolis graduate and holder of the Medal of Honor for exceptional bravery in the World war.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Already they are speaking of the "old" International Casino, when actually it isn't old at all. It is only a couple years old, maybe three at the most. But it is old in the Broadway sense, which has nothing to do with time, because it has outlived its usefulness and will now be converted into what is said will be the largest store in the world. Bonds is taking over the "old" show house and will transform it into a department store this fall.

The International Casino, a gaudy white elephant of the Hollywood type, was the last great gesture in the direction of the idea that you had to have a tobacco warehouse for a night club. It was a dismal flop. Most of the time it has been idle. Clifford C. Fischer, with his lavish Parisian revues, was unable to give it the warmth and intimacy which are essential to success on Broadway. It was vast in the sense that all outdoors is vast. It had a winding stairway and a bar that wound all the way downstairs with it, so that you could stop and refresh yourself if you got tired on the way down. It was operated on the cabaret-restaurant idea — that is, dine and have a chorus girl show of a hundred femmes while you ate. It had glittering escalators to carry you upstairs. It had three orchestras and a uniformed staff of scores to wait upon you. But that wasn't enough. The International Casino, as everyone knows now, is truly dead. It was dead the night it opened. The trouble is that sometimes it takes Broadway a long time to find things out.

BUT what I really wanted to say about the old International Casino, in dropping a posy on its bier, is that its site is truly one of the most famous in all New York. This is on Broadway between 44th and 45th, and it has been a celebrated and famous site, redolent with glamorous and sentimental memories, ever since the late Oscar Hammerstein dedicated his Olympia theater there in 1895. That was really the beginning of Times Square as a theatrical center. It marked the first northward urge of the show houses. After Hammerstein's Olympia came the Music Hall, the New York, and the Criterion theaters, all of which existed for a while on the same site and gave their names to the history of nightlife in New York.

Among the old, long-remembered shows that delighted New York were "When Knighthood Was In Flower," and the Primrose and West "minstrels." . . . Maude Adams played there in "The Little Minister" and in "The Girl From Maxims." . . . Later Lionel, Ethel, and John Barrymore, singly and, on one occasion all together, trod those boards. It was the only time the famous Barrymores ever appeared on the same stage in New York. The first Ziegfeld Follies was shown there too, for by that time the place was known as the New York Roof. The site also served for the first American appearance of Sir Harry Lauder.

BUT all that is gone now, washed down the drain along with an older and perhaps more gracious era than the one we know now. Into its place will come tableware and negligees, sports jackets and electric toasters. Yet all will not be completely lost. Even in department stores, if you know where to look, you can find sales girls who look like Hedy Lamarr one week and Ann Sheridan the next. Even in department stores you can still find Mickey Mouse soap and men's shirts with Barrymore collars.

Everyday Poem

Legend for a Quilt.

She said, "Into this quilt I'll put
The very best of me.
So that when in the stretch of years
At last I come to be

An ancestor, and legend tells
My tale, this they will know,
The truth of me, my character,
This in my quilt I'll sew.

My children something of me find,
And my grandchildren, too,
But after that I will be strange
To those who come, and new.

But when I'm shadowy, this quilt
Will mutely speak of me:
Its careful stitches, patterns, dreams,
Keep my identity.

A Farmer's Diary

State Fair Exhibit

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE WENT to the state fair, my girl and boy and I. When we entered by the north gate, we were surprised at the great number of cars parked inside. They filled the space of a good-sized farm. We walked down through a narrow avenue to where we saw tents.

The first we entered was devoted to wild life. One division showed the tragedy of glaring headlights to confused rabbits, opossums and birds. We saw the native haunts of quail, squirrel, owl, hawk, fox, coon and woodchuck. Some were stuffed, but most were living creatures. The children loved the animals.

The most fundamental exhibit, though, was not farm machinery, splendid types of seed corn, excellent showings of cattle, sheep, hogs, horses, poultry, nor the junior projects of Future Farmers of America. The exhibit which merited study because it was at the foundation of all the others, was the one of soil conservation. Without fertile soil we would have no fair.

We looked upon a reproduction in relief of the Pleasant Hill dam site, and the Clearfork region. The children picked out the very place we live. The work, made of concrete, showed the deep river courses, the barricades of stone and dirt that dam the water. It showed the state park, the high points, the wooded hills the table lands and winding highways. Intermittent artificial rains drenched the hills and we watched the rising streams flow down against the giant dam breast until a long lake formed above, which was let out gradually, preventing floods.

On the other side were replicas of farms in rolling country. The first was impoverished by erosion. The crops were poor, the buildings falling down, the soil was bare in all the steeper places.

Just over the line a modern farmer had used strip farming. Green ribbons of corn alternated with bands of grass around his slopes. The grass prevented cultivated slopes from washing. His strips of grass and legumes were vivid green, his corn was excellent, his cattle fat, his equipment up-to-date.

"I know them farms," I heard one farmer say. "I remember when this poor eroded farm was better'n the other one. Taint all money, nor 'taint all brute force and hard work. This man makes good because he has brains—and uses 'em. It's a pity so many of us let our best land go trailing off down the Mississippi every year. It'll do more good if we keep it here at home in Ohio."

NAZI AIR RAID GIVES COMMONS SHORT RECESS

'We've Just Begun to Fight' Churchill Tells House In Speech Today.

magnify his attacks during September.

"Firm confidence is felt by all responsible officers of the R. A. F. in our ability to withstand this largely increased scale of attack.

The second air raid alarm of the day and the 44th of the war to date sounded soon after the house had assemled to hear Churchill.

Routine business was continued for ten minutes after warning sounded, but after a consultation, the speaker cleared the house, sending members, spectators and diplomats to air raid shelters on the premises.

This was shortly after 3:30 p. m. At 4 o'clock, the members were allowed to return to the chamber and the speaker announced resumption of the session. He warned everyone, however, that the "alert" was still in progress and members and galleryites were told to be ready to take shelter again if necessary.

There was a burst of cheering when the sergeant-at-arms flung open the doors leading to the galleries, permitting spectators and guests to return to their places.

The Germans made two abortive attempts to pierce the defenses. Dozens of incendiary bombs were dropped on one suburb during these attacks, doing considerable damage.

Fierce dogfights marked progress of the German waves from the coast to the London area. It was understood that only a few machines managed to penetrate to within any measurable distance of the capital.

Repeating the same tactics they used yesterday, waves of German bombing and fighting planes tried to penetrate England's southeastern defenses.

After a night of widespread air attacks, the Nazis once succeeded in approaching the British capital, causing London's forty-third air alarm of the war. The sirens shrieked at 10:02 a. m. (4:02 a. m. EST) and the all-clear signal sounded 55 minutes later.

Immediately after the warning sounded high explosive and incendiary bombs dropped on the edge of the London area but caused no damage.

An official summary of the morning's battles stated.

"Enemy aircraft in considerable numbers crossed the southeast coast this morning. Some penetrated to the outskirts of London and some bombs were reported dropped in this area. But from preliminary reports it does not appear that serious damage was caused.

"Our fighters and anti-aircraft batteries went into action and losses were inflicted on the enemy.

"During last night's action over England two enemy bombers were intercepted and shot down by our fighters shortly after midnight."

The new alarm followed night raids which spread over many sections of the British Isles and furnished southeastern England with what was described as the "liveliest night of the war."

An air ministry communique said that shortly after dusk yesterday the German raiders began a series of scattered attacks which continued throughout most of the night. It added:

"Bombs were dropped at many points, including the London area.

"The raids caused a number of casualties, some of which were fatal. A large number of fires were started but quickly brought under control.

"Houses were damaged in many areas. Most of the casualties and damage occurred in two towns in the northwest and a town in the southwest.

"In the London area damage was small and casualties were very slight."

German Prisoners In Canada Work Outside

This picture, taken somewhere in Canada, shows a party of German prisoners working on road construction. Prisoners are not obliged to work outside the prison compound but if they do they are paid 20 cents a day. These men are civilian internees.

18 Killed By Bombs In Germany

BERLIN—(AP)—Eighteen civilians were killed by a British bomb in a northern German town last night, the high command announced today, and two men were killed in a two-hour raid on the Berlin area.

While the command asserted the British attack on the capital "foundered" in face of strong defenses, it said Nazi planes "effectively" bombarded airports and airplane plants in England and set numerous fires in attacks on port and dock facilities at English east and west coast points, including Liverpool, Bristol and Hull.

An account of sea warfare said the German navy has sunk five British destroyers in recent days, including three said to have been of modern type—the Esk, Ivanhoe and Express.

The 18 German civilians were killed when a bomb dropped on workers quarters while the victims were outside a shelter, the high command reported.

In the Berlin raid, bombs damaged an electrical plant and warehouse where army equipment was stored.

A policeman was killed when a bomb dropped in the famous Tiergarten park in Berlin, and another man was killed by a bomb which damaged apartment houses in a community south of the city.

Authorized sources declared only two British planes penetrated the Berlin defenses, and one of these was shot down outside the city.

Most of the British raiders which entered Germany were turned back for the second successive night by anti-aircraft fire and Nazi chaser planes, they said.

These sources asserted the British succeeded, however, in dropping incendiary bombs on various parts of the Reich.

They said several persons were injured by a British attack on the noted health resort of Kissingen, in Bavaria.

Furious Naval Battles Fought

ROME—(AP)—A series of furious naval and air engagements with British forces, in which Italian MAS (motor torpedo boats) participated "successfully," was reported in Africa and the Mediterranean by the Italian high command today.

It told of British air and naval bombardments of Italian bases in the Dodecanese islands, off the coast of Turkey, and Italian attacks on three British naval and merchant ship formations.

Six British naval ships, including two cruisers, were damaged by aerial bombs in two of these actions, the high command said, and 17 British planes destroyed in this and other combat.

In addition an Italian torpedo boat "successfully attacked" a British cruiser and two destroyers, the Italian communique said, and Italian planes "seriously hit" a British merchant ship.

Italian losses were listed as one MAS boat, and four planes.

The action ranged from off the coast of Algeria in the western Mediterranean, through the Aegean to the Red Sea.

3,900 Drown When Troopship Sinks

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—The newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported last night about 3,900 German troops had been drowned Monday night in the torpedoing and sinking of a German transport by a British submarine in the Kattegat, entrance to the Baltic sea.

The report came from the newspaper's correspondent at Lysekil, near Goteborg, who said Swedish and Danish fishermen were witnesses.

The vessel was identified as the Marion, of Hamburg, and was reported en route to Norway from Germany, carrying 4,000 troops. She was said to have gone to the bottom after being struck by one torpedo amidships.

WITNESSES LOSE

CHILLICOTHE—(AP)—An application of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect, to restrain Portsmouth police from interfering with distribution of literature was refused by the district court of appeals.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

By EDWARD CHODOROV
Author and Producer.

HOLLYWOOD—Like "Books That Changed Our Minds," certain motion pictures have extended immeasurably the cinema horizons of my professional generation. Some of these we saw long before we started to work in pictures. Some were foreign-made; a few were popular, others obscure failures.

A picture like "Last Laugh" was a failure financially in the United States but its sum total influence must be incalculable. No professional who saw "Last Laugh" ever forgot it. Hollow echoes of its simplicity, dynamic continuity, realism and fantasy speak today in many a script and on many a set.

"S. S. Potemkin" opened still another vista. It must be the real foundation for today's documentary-dramatized films. It made other unforgettable contributions: The arbitrary and hair-raising editing of its sprawling scenes; the "naturalness" of its camera work—a quality which we now call newsreel photography; its unpretty human beings with their warts and moles and small-pox scars. I don't say that "Potemkin" did all or any of these first or did them best, but the combination of so many eye-openers is a magnificent film most certainly had an impact that radically changed our minds about movie making.

THE BIRTH OF A NATION" seems to have had little effect on the present. (Sneers of derision here from old-line producers who tried for years to imitate "Birth...) Perhaps we were too young to regard it as anything but a terrifying spectacle. Curiously enough, Griffith's little-remembered "The White Rose" knocked a lot of us for a loop. It starred the English actor, Ivor Norvello, and Mae Marsh, and featured most importantly some potent seed-planting scenes. The beauty of the lush Southern landscapes, the seduction sequence, Miss Marsh's terror at the knowledge of her imminent motherhood seemed the last words on the subjects then. They set up signposts which will be followed in that happy future when the fugitives from our obscene censorship, simple love-making and honest labor-pains, come home.

It is literally impossible to exaggerate the importance of Lubitsch's "The Marriage Circle." It set a whole generation of potential artisans thinking along completely different lines. Our mental attitude toward the less grim aspects of sex could never again be the same. The picture cinematically discovered love as a charming occupation.

The arbitrary examples given here would cover, roughly, the larger theme divisions: Realistic drama, historic spectacle, sentimental romance and sophisticated comedy.

Other works that for one reason or another seem to have set in motion lasting internal ripples: "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," "All for a Woman" (the Jannings picture about the French Revolution), a Charlie Ray piece whose title I'm shaky about (was it "The Girl I Loved?"), "Ten Days That Shook the World," "Two Hearts in Waltz Time," "Poil de Carrot," "Crime Without Passion," and many others. But these gave us, to greater or lesser degree, Revelation.

ed lengthily as speakers reviewed Hungary's struggle to regain her World war losses and its recent success. The Vienna award restored to Hungary nearly half of all the territory she lost to Rumania by the World war treaty of the Trianon.

Horthy issued this order of the day:

"Another part of the injustice of (the World war treaty of) Trianon has been rectified. Let us start to take over once again new parts of our thousand-year-old heritage.

"We bring liberation to our Hungarian brothers living for 22 years in chains in Transylvania and affection of those faithful to us within our borders. Forward to the crest of the eastern Carpathians!"

The soldiers, who had been waiting near the frontier, began moving with the first light of day. They crossed along a 150-mile line.

37 Survivors of 2 British Ships Land at Baltimore

GRIM TALE OF DISASTER AND DEATH TOLD

Warships Torpedoed by Nazi U-Boat; Rescue Made By Swedish Vessel.

BALTIMORE — Thirty-seven haggard and disheveled British seamen, eight of them injured, told a grim tale today of disaster and death in the war at sea.

Landed here unexpectedly last night by the Swedish freighter Eknaren, they were the sole survivors of crews of two British vessels, the 4,000-ton freighter Blairmore and the Royal Navy sloop Penzance, both torpedoed and sunk Aug. 24 about 700 miles off the Irish coast.

More than 100 of their shipmates were lost.

Their stories, pieced together through a wall of censorship clamped down by British consular officials, indicated the eight injured men were the only survivors of the Penzance.

These, burned, cut and dazed, were among the Penzance sailors taken aboard the Blairmore when it sped to the flaming warship's aid—only to be torpedoed in turn a few minutes later by the same U-boat. With 29 Blairmore survivors, they were rescued again by the Eknaren.

So secretive was the Eknaren's voyage that Capt. John H. Taylor, the British consul here, said he knew nothing of the rescue or that the freighter would dock here until late yesterday.

Customs and immigration inspectors, caught equally unawares, put a tight guard around the freighter until the injured men were taken off and quarters arranged for the Blairmore's officers and crew.

'FULL STEAM'

Willkie Calls on Republicans For Aggressive Campaign.

RUSHVILLE —(AP)— Exactly two months before the presidential election, Wendell L. Willkie called on Republican leaders from 22 states today to "get an aggressive, organized campaign under full steam."

He invited nearly 100 national committeemen, committeewomen and state chairmen to discuss organization problems with him over heaping plates of fried chicken, cream gravy and mashed potatoes—his favorite menu.

The meeting was described in advance by the Republican presidential nominee as the largest of its kind planned for this year.

Gown Snatcher Loses Girl To Ohio Guardsman

CINCINNATI — (AP)—Earl Higdon of Chicago was the "caveman" but Sergt. William Koester, jr., of the Ohio National Guard, got the girl.

Koester and Coralene Hickman, 22, were married last night, a few hours after she announced she was going to marry Higdon because he stole her wedding gown—"and that assured me he really cared."

The Chicagoan rushed past Miss Hickman's landlady yesterday, snached the gown and said she'd wed Koester only "over my dead body."

Then Koester talked to Miss Hickman at length, reminding her they already had a marriage license. As a woman will, she changed her mind again.

Higdon, admitting defeat, returned the dress in time for the ceremony.

TWO ESCAPE

LONDON, O.—(AP)—Cincinnati police today were asked to be on the lookout for William Mitchell, 35, and Earl Hennigar, 34, who walked away from the honor dormitory at the London prison farm. They were believed headed for Cincinnati where Mitchell has relatives.

Mitchell was serving a seven to 20-year sentence from Hamilton county for aiding Hennigar, who, sentenced from Clermont county in 1933 to a five to 25 years for robbery, was to have been paroled March 1, 1941.

SUPPORT F. D. R.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Backing of President Roosevelt and Henry A. Wallace will be sought by the state committee for Agriculture, organized yesterday as a nonpartisan group of farmers, Ernest G. Hyer of Richfield Leaf is chairman.

CORRECTION MADE

The address of Donald L. Bonner, who brought a $500 suit against the Mansfield Motor lodge yesterday in common pleas court, was erroneously listed in yesterday's News-Journal as 14 Hedges street. Bonner is employed at that address and Philip Stehle now lives there.

WOMAN SLUGGED

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Two men slugged Miss Ena Stein, 30, a restaurant bookkeeper, and took $80 from her.

JAPAN SAVES

TOKYO, Japan—(UNS)—Japanese will be encouraged to save money in the future, even though they want to buy luxuries. Those who purchase goods other than daily necessities worth 100 yen ($23) will be asked to buy at least 50 yen worth of Savings Debentures or "Patriotic" bonds at the same time.

FISTS ENLIVEN DRAFT DEBATE

dividual to the White House.

"Then they were brought to their senses 5 months later when he put us into war."

Sweeney returned to a seat beside Vincent, 5 years his junior, and abruptly the flare-up occurred. Each representative landed hard blows to the face and kept slugging until colleagues intervened.

Sweeney subsequently apologized to the house. Vincent at first repeated his charge of "traitor"—but later withdrew it at the persuasion of friends. Each gave the house his version of the altercation.

Sweeney's account:

"As I resumed my seat, the gentleman with whom I had difficulties called me a traitor. He repeated it again and you know what happened."

Vincent's account:

"I served in the World war. . . . To say that my president of that time brought on that war to me was an untruth. The whole statement that the gentleman made here I resented very much.

"When he came down to sit with me, I got up and moved. I said I did not want to sit by a traitor to my country. Then he attacked me and you know what happened."

When Vincent concluded there were some cheers, but more boos and hisses and loud shouts of "throw him out." Vincent retracted the "traitor" charge a few minutes later and it was stricken from the record, despite objections.

The house debate last night lasted almost until midnight, with conscription alternately praised and denounced.

UMPIRE FINED BY EX-PLAYER

Diamond Athletes Have Long Memory, Arbiter Learns.

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Baseball players have long memories.

Umpire George Hildebrand went before Judge Hugh Smith on a little matter of overtime parking. The judge is a former catcher.

"George, my friend, I've been waiting a long time for this," smiled His Honor sweetly. "Do you remember the time you fined me $5 for squawking on a decision, when you knew you were wrong?"

"Yes," admitted Hildebrand weakly.

"Your fine," continued His Honor swiftly, "is exactly two bucks."

NEW CAR SALES SHOW DECLINE

Drop to New Low for Year But Only 3 Fewer Than Same Period of 1939.

New automobile sales in Richland county dropped to a low mark for the year in August, but only three fewer new cars were sold during the month than in August last year, figures compiled by Norman P. Henry, deputy county clerk of courts, showed today.

County residents purchased 124 new cars last month, as compared to 252 in July and 127 in August, 1939.

It is believed the slump was due primarily to the anticipated introduction of new models soon, causing prospective buyers to wait until the new cars appear before buying.

Despite the decrease last month, more new cars have already been purchased in the county this year than in all of 1939. Total sales for the first eight months of this year were 2,170, while in all of last year only 2,107 cars were sold in the county.

So far in 1940 sales are 48 per cent ahead of the corresponding period last year. The peak month this year was April when 350 new cars were sold.

Twenty-four trucks were sold in August as compared to 16 in July and 13 in August last year.

CLEVELAND—(NS)— Dr. Oscar E. Harder, assistant director of the Battelle Memorial Institute at Columbus, will be elected president of the American Society of Metals for 1940-41 when ballots are cast during the Cleveland Metal Congress and Exposition in October.

Dancer's Broken Knee Hinged By Platinum Bolt

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— A small platinum bolt, hinging a broken knee-cap, makes possible the continuation of the dancing career of Berenice Holmes.

Here to attend sessions of the Dancing Masters 57th annual convention, Miss Holmes described her comeback after a fall eight years ago in Chicago.

"Everyone, doctors, included, told me my dancing career was over," she said.

But a Chicago surgeon designed a platinum bolt which was fitted into her knee-cap, and, after three years of practice, she regained her former skill.

Miss Holmes began her dancing career at the age of 5. She has danced before the late Queen Marie of Rumania, has been prima ballerina of the Adolph Bolm Ballet and a member of the Chicago Opera ballet.

ANGOLA, Ind. —(U.P.)— After cooking a chicken dinner with all the trimmings, topped off with a huge cake, to celebrate his birthday, relatives of Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana had a right to be peeved when the governor sat down and called for two three-minute eggs.

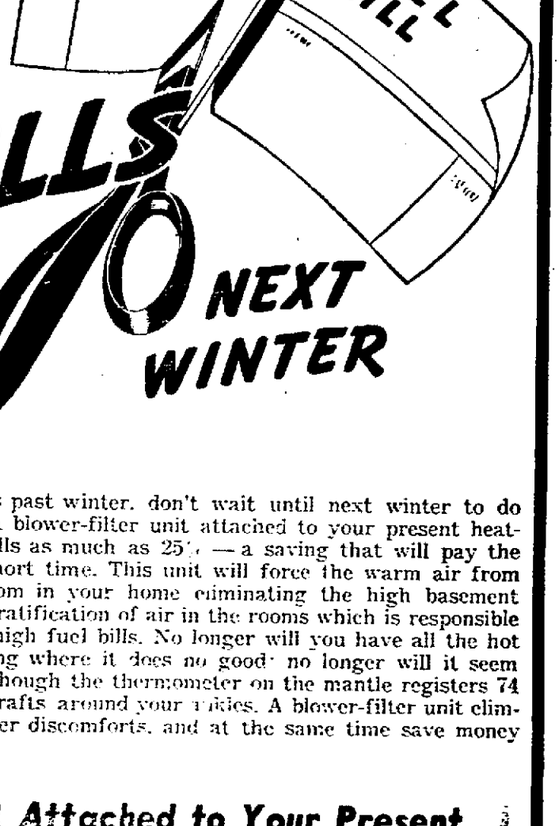
ACT NOW!



CUT YOUR FUEL BILLS 25% NEXT WINTER

If your fuel bills were too high this past winter, don't wait until next winter to do something about them. Act now! A blower-filter unit attached to your present heating system can reduce your fuel bills as much as 25% — a saving that will pay the cost of the equipment in a very short time. This unit will force the warm air from your furnace, directly to every room in your home eliminating the high basement temperatures, stack losses, and stratification of air in the rooms which is responsible for much of the wasted heat and high fuel bills. No longer will you have all the hot air in the basement or at the ceiling where it does no good; no longer will it seem chilly where you are sitting, even though the thermometer on the mantle registers 74 degrees; no longer will you feel drafts around your ankles. A blower-filter unit eliminates "cold spots," drafts, and other discomforts, and at the same time save money on your fuel bills.

A BLOWER-FILTER Attached to Your Present Furnace Will Pay for Itself In a Short Time

The blower-filter unit will save money for you in two ways: first, by reducing your fuel bills, and second, by reducing your cleaning bills, bills for cleaning wallpaper, furniture, and furnishings. This unit can be attached to your present furnace quickly and easily, and at an amazingly low cost. We will gladly send a competent heating engineer to check your heating system and give you an estimate on the cost of a modern blower-filter system. There is no obligation, of course.

Black Still High Fashion For All Fall Wardrobes

By SUSAN BARDEN
(International Illustrated News Writer)

The classic black costume is still the background of every fall wardrobe. Though it has been a seasonal necessity for many years, it still holds its own as an outstanding favorite. Of course the reasons are obvious: there is nothing that will go with so many bright accessories, make a figure look so slender, or be suitable for so many in-town occasions.

This year the lines and cut are all-important when you select this all-important dress.

The slim silhouette and high neckline are the real fashion news in these perennials. But you can have your choice of awkward-length, long or short sleeves, and flaring or narrow skirts. There is also a wide choice of materials. Suede, crepe, wool and celanese are all very popular. So when and where you will wear your basic dress most should decide this question for you.

A two-piece dress that is the answer to a career girl's prayer. It is made of black celanese. Beautiful tailoring distinquishes the well-cut, long-sleeved blouse and the pleated skirt, which is stitched for slenderness to the hipline. A high "shirt" collar, front button closing, patch pockets, buttoned cuffs and a black patent leather belt at the natural waistline complete the detail of this severely chic dress.

A dash of satin on dull, dull black is one of the Eisenberg creations for city wear. The softly bloused jacket of this outfit gleams discreetly at waist and lapel, and is subtly flattering to the figure. That is partially due to the fact that the long highlight of the lapel gives an amazingly slimming effect. The broad sash emphasizes the well defined waist without at all cutting off the figure. Under the jacket is an excellent version of the basic dress, with a high neck and short sleeves that lends itself to the wearing of costume jewelry. When wearing the little coat a necklace can be substituted for the twin clips shown in the photograph.

Good Health Essential for Teacher, Too

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

SUMMER affords most teachers an opportunity to improve themselves physically for the year ahead. Those teachers who grow stronger, more serene and poised this summer will be fitter for our children to be with next winter.

Many teachers will spend some of the summer at school with profit to themselves and their children; others might much better have been lolling and basking in the sun. Too many teachers who need physical rehabilitation are forced to take summer school work, thanks to the inordinate pressure for grades and credits.

Emotional Drain.

Some teachers in summer improve their minds and bodies by traveling. Those working on farms and serving as counselors in camps should profit, as a rule, and be more efficient teachers next winter. In my student and early teaching days, I think I built up considerable physical reserve in summers from hard work on the farm.

A few teachers will have to care for the aged and sick at home. In doing so they probably gain spiritually, but often lose physically and must begin with children in September, emotionally unfit. I wish all parents who expect a great deal during summers of their sons and daughters who teach in winter would keep in mind the children and youth who will be pupils and students of these sons and daughters. More might plan their own programs with the physical and emotional welfare of the children getting first consideration. Children come first.

Students' Opportunity.

Now is a good time, too, for high school and college students not regularly employed to effect a plan for putting themselves in good shape physically. They need exposure to the sun; some need vigorous exercise to which they should grow adapted gradually, such as swimming rowing, camping, hiking, mountain climbing. Work on the farm, even without wages, should be profitable investment. Girls there should not shun the sun, as so many do How I wish parents of young farm children would dress these youngsters so that most of the child's body will be exposed to sunshine.

Some students, of course with the advice of their doctor, will find it advisable to loll about a good deal during the summer.

Even those youths employed in the shade all day should be able to get considerable outdoor recreation in the sunlight during summer. All too many youths wear themselves out in pursuit of nightly pleasures which break down rather than build for health and physical vigor.

Youths who would like to read books on vocations, college, or ways of improving their methods of study sohuld write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it and let me send them lists of good books to read on these matters. Others ought to make frequent visits to the public library and get advice on reading from the experts there. Let us parents and our children be too proud just to exist and drift aimlessly along; let us be the masters of our own fate and ever plan and work for self-improvement.

PARSONAGE SALE

ASHLAND — Trustees of the Ashland Congregational church have asked the court of common pleas here permission to sell the church parsonage so that funds to meet obligations may be secured.

In a petition filed by C. E. Jameson, W. H. Shearer, D. W. Weir and G. L. Tait it is claimed that the sale of the parsonage, on lot 51 in South Ashland, would enable the congregation to meet its obligations, and to be able to continue services for another year.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I could find no answer to my question as again and again I feverishly went over that tense dramatic moment in Dicky's life and mine. At the time it had seemed a beautiful, self-abnegating gesture to refuse to listen to his confession—his confused manner had made me believe it would be that—but if the consequence of my decision was to be a fester such as I had just found in my soul, perhaps it would have been better to have permitted him to tell me everything that had happened.

My memory prodded my conscience with the reminder that Philip Veritzen was even now on his way to the farmhouse, and that, even though my father had decreed that he was to "take potluck" with the rest of us, yet, as hostess I ought to make some provision for the comfort of Mary's sybaritic father-in-law.

But I found that I could get no response to that problem from my tired brain and nerves, yet I realized that probing the wound in my heart was getting me nowhere, and with a feeling that action of any kind was preferable to thought, I went on down the stairs to the lower floor.

Katherine was alone in the library when I entered it, and her eyebrows quirked humorously at me, as, after a hesitant moment in the doorway I walked in

"Lil's in the kitchen," she said, answering the questing look which I sent around the room. "She's making the pretense of helping Katie get dinner, and I fancy she's lending a hand at that—Katie needs it, you can wager—but in reality she's seeing to it that our Katie doesn't turn herself into a listening post."

"Oh!" I ejaculated comprehendingly.

"Exactly." Katherine said. "We gathered that you didn't particularly care to have her 'dee-doo-cing tings' from your colloquy with old Phil."

I Smiled at her gratefully.

"You 'gathered' correctly." I told her, and then I sat down suddenly in the nearest chair, with the feeling that Philip Veritzen's projected advent into household was, in Katie's parlance, "shoost too mooch."

It was really a slump of my body into the chair that I involuntarily staged, and through the lethargy that invested me, I saw that Katherine's keen eyes were looking at me searchingly.

Her scrutiny lasted but the merest fraction of a second. Then she rose abruptly, and walking over to me, tapped me lightly on the shoulder.

"Promise me you'll stay you for two minuttes," she said. "I won't be longer than that."

"'Cross my heart; hope to die! honest Injun!'" I returned, forcing a wintry smile to my lips, for indeed, I asked nothing more of life at that moment than the opportunity to sit motionless with my mind a blank. I could not even summon energy enough to wonder where she had gone, or why she had made so sudden a departure.

She was back in the time she had named, and she did not come alone Lillian was beside her, and the sight of my two friends together and with something purposeful in their faces, shattered my lethargy and excited my curiosity.

That they were in the room because of me was obvious, but a glance at Katherine's hands told me that she had brought no potion of any kind with her, and I knew that she was not worrying over my physical condition. Her first words, however, told me that she and Lillian were turning themselves into First Aid unit for the appeasement of my mental worries, realizing that it was my spirit, not my body which needed succor.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, September 6.

AN INTERESTING, exciting and productive day, with much real progress toward high goals, according to the lunar and mutual aspects. Large issues are at stake and will be engineered with energy, initiative, determination, hard work and perseverance. New as well as old enterprises should respond to such tactics, under the high potencies of planetary impetus.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a productive, progressive and prosperous year, with much accomplished in a big way, by maintaining a sane and even course of action. The forces and faculties will be keyed to bold initiative, but since there are indications of counter currents it is recommended that reserves of resolution, patience, determination and hard work be drawn on.

A child born on this day will be splendidly endowed with energies and faculties to assure it a more than ordinary success in a professional, literary, scientific career, where foresight and brilliant intellect count.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

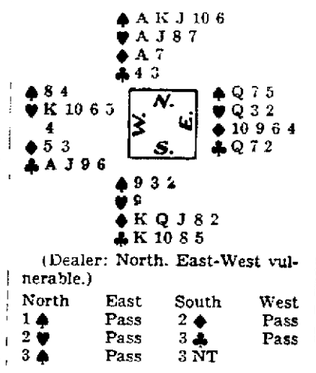
"The Authority on Authorities"

SUITS USUALLY SAFER

Except when one or both of the partnerships hands can show only one four-card suit, all side suits consisting of three cards each, it is nearly always easier to take ten tricks at any fitting suit than nine tricks at No Trump, a fitting suit being one in which the side holds eight cards or one partner has at least six. There are two reasons for this. First, extra tricks may be made by ruffing, tricks which are not possible when there is no trump Second, no hostile suits can be run, because you can check it by trumping.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 NT

South bid his 3-No Trumps solely because he considers himself a better player of the cards than his patrner. His correct final bid, when holding three of his partner's rebid five-card suit, was 4-Spades, and he knew it as well as anyone. As it turned out, his partner could have made the spade game without difficulty, by merely running the spades and discarding several losers on the solid diamonds. Only one trick would have been lost in spades and two in clubs.

It was fun to watch South struggle with his No Trump game The heart 5 was led to the 8 and Q. then the club was returned. South let it win, covered the 7 with the 8 and let West win with the 9. The latter would not conveniently return the suit, but led to the spade A, declarer's first trick. Followed then five diamonds in an effort to squeeze West between hearts and clubs, but the latter kept his best two of each suit.

When South then led to the spade K, West was squeezed, but he could now discard a club with impunity, knowing South could not lead to his own hand. So he could only take dummy's heart A, then lead to the heart K. That and the club A set him one.

Ask Herbert Ruling on Davey Use of Pension Roster

OFFICIAL SAYS MAILING LIST VIOLATES LAW

Sherwood Instructed to Turn Hatch Act Case Over to Justice Department.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert will be asked to rule whether alleged use of Ohio's old age pension roster as a mailing list by Martin L. Davey in his campaign for governor constitutes a violation of the federal Hatch "clean politics" law.

State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood will request the ruling as the next step in a controversy involving bids for votes of the state's 12,000 old age pensioners and their dependents.

Tom McCaw, chief of the division of aid for the aged which administers the pension law under jurisdiction of Sherwood and the federal social security board, conferred with Assistant U. S. District Attorney Ray O'Donnell here. Neither would comment on results of their discussion.

Sherwood had been informed by the social security board to turn over any evidence of Hatch law violation to the department of justice.

Sherwood's accusations that Davey was violating the law in his letter solicitation of pensioner's votes came as Democrats prepared to assemble in Columbus tomorrow to draft a platform for the ensuing campaign.

Sherwood said he believed such solicitation was a violation of the Hatch "clean politics" law and obtained from the board assurance that if the Hatch law had been broken evidence to that effect would be sumitted to the justice department.

At his home in Kent, Davey said that "all this talk about the Hatch act is pure bunk as it relates to me." He said that Bricker in the 1938 campaign wrote to pensioners, promising certain changes in the old age pension law.

"He broke all those promises," Davey added, "as he has broken his promises to thousands of other people. Now that I have written the old age pensioners and made certain committments I am going to be different from Mr. Bricker. I am going to keep my promises."

Sherwood indicated he thought Davey might have obtained the list of pensioners from the office of State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. Besides the aid for the aged division in Sherwood's department no other office except Ferguson's has such a list. Chief Deputy Auditor Norman Beck disclaimed knowledge on this point, however.

Sells New Issue of Commemorative Stamps Tomorrow

One cent and two cent stamps in the sixth series of commemorative stamps honoring famous Americans will go on sale at the postoffice tomorrow, Assistant Postmaster William T. Houston announced today.

American artists will be honored by the September issue, with Gilbert Charles Stuart appearing on the one-cent stamp and James A. McNeill Whistler on the two-cent stamp.

On Sept. 17 the three-cent stamp, bearing the resemblance of August Saint-Gaudens, and the five-cent stamp, bearing a portrait of Daniel Chester Frech, will go sale at the postoffice. The 10-cent Frederic Remington stamp will be available on Oct. 1.

American poets, educators scientists, and composers have already appeared on previous issues of the commemorative series. The last series, honoring American inventors, will appear sometime next month.

On Monday, a three-cent stamp will also be issued, honoring the 400th anniversary of Coronado's expedition through the southwest, Houston said.

Home Guard to Protect Ohio Anticipated

True story: An insurance collector yesterday entered one Mansfield home as the children were preparing to start to school. "My youngest starts this year," the mother said. "I don't know how I'll keep busy with all the children gone." Piped up the 6-year-old first grader: "You'll have to buy another baby, mama." The story ends on a note of red faces and embarrassed laughter.

From all indications there is a movement on foot in Mansfield among a group of fishermen to stay at home next year for vacations, instead of tripping off to Canada or Michigan. The movement, if any, was started yesterday afternoon in a local establishment when Dale Roth told a group of friends that all he got on his trip to Canada was a bad cold, a general run-down condition, and one fish. Others chimed in immediately with similar laments. A solemn vow was taken that none of this year's travelers would leave Ohio soil, but old-timers shook their heads and predicted they'd be right back at it next year.

Patrolman C. W. Kyler and George Yoakum were all set for their assault on the target at the police pistol range at Ontario today. Going into the second round of the six-week match, Kyler held an edge on his brother officer who claims that he'll even up the score this afternoon. The pair heads the department's pistol shooters bidding for a trophy which will be presented to the officer with the highest average score at the end of the matches.

The recent heavy rains have made the mushroom hunting good in Richland county pasture fields and too good on the golf courses near the city, some golfers have found. The round, white tops of the mushrooms resemble golf balls half buried in the grass, confusing even the golfer with the keenest eyes until he has tried to pick up a "ball" that was anchored at the lower side. Mushrooms have popped up in the smoothest of fairways, and it is possible to come in with a mess for breakfast after 18 holes of golf.

AMERICANS HELD

Germans Take Six From Boat Bound for South Africa.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Capture of six Americans on a steamship seized by German warships was reported today in a broadcast by Edwin Hartrich, CBS correspondent in Berlin, quoting the newspaper Deutsche Allegemeine Zietung.

Hartrich said the Berlin newspaper related the Americans were taken from the steamship Atlantic en route to South Africa.

They were first taken to a French port, he said, and then "given transportation" to Irun, Spain. No details were given as to whether the six were ultimately released.

CBS studio officials here gave the following names of the six, adding that there was no confirmation of the spellings and no addresses:

Mr. and Mrs. O. Yoder, F. A. Schmallenberger, Jesse M. Nicholson, Frank J. and Zola C. Kuntzer.

A daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lehnhart, R. D. 1, Lexington, at General hospital yesterday morning.

A son, to Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hall, 106 West Fourth street, at General hospital yesterday morning.

BUILDING HERE PASSES MILLION

Valuations for First Eight Months of Year Placed at $1,207,216.

Building valuations in Mansfield pushed past the million dollar mark during August, total valuations for the first eight months of 1940 advancing to $1,207,216.

A survey of building permit records disclosed today that the 1940 valuations were approximately $536,000 under the valuation figure for the corresponding period last year. The 1939 figure was $1,743,939.

Chief reason for the drop in the valuation was the $1,000,000 school improvement program sponsored by the board of education during the early part of 1939.

With the number of residences under construction this year slightly less than in 1939, valuations in new home construction showed a decrease of approximately $107,000.

A total of 152 new homes have been started this year at an estimated cost of $728,900, as compared to 181 home valued at $936,550 for the same period last year.

Average cost per residence, however, increased from less than $4,900 per unit in 1919 to little more than $5,1000 so far this year.

August building valuations were listed at $210,670 for all new construction including permits for 32 new homes estimated to cost $158,100.

MERCURY SOARS TO 80 DEGREES

After dropping to 65 degrees last night, the mercury soared up to 80 by noon today to equal yesterday's high and the weatherman said there was little prospect of any change in temperature before Saturday.

The forecast said it would be fair with little change in temperature tonight and Friday.

Yesterday's average temperature was 65 degrees, four degrees below normal.

HOLLYWOOD LOVE MARKET HITS NEW LOW IN DAY'S QUOTATIONS

HOLLYWOOD—(UP)—Quotations on love, Hollywood branch, sank to a new low today when three of the screen's greatest love makers, John Barrymore, Hedy Lamarr, and Carole Landis split with their mates.

Barrymore, the great gray profile, walked out on his Elaine and said this was their fifth—or was it sixth?—and final separation. Miss Lamarr, who became an international star by swimming naked in her first movie, sued producer Gene Markey for divorce. Miss Landis, the self-described fugitive from a leg art career, said she had to use exceptional forbearance to make her marrige last an even 60 days.

They agreed that wedded bliss was a snare and a delusion, though Barrymore, who has been married so often he sometimes losses count, wouldn't promise not to give it another try.

Established in the caretakers' quarters of his multi-roomed house, which he described as looking like a 'Chinese tenement," Barrymore said he expected Elaine would file divorce proceedings shortly.

The beauteous Miss Lamarr, who married Markey after Joan Bennett had divorced him, charged him in court with cruelty, unspecified. She said they had reached a property settlement and that she wanted no alimony; only freedom.

Miss Landis eloped to Las Vegas, Nev., exactly two months ago with William Hunt, a yacht broker. She left him last night, announced that she would seek a divorce immediately, and said it hadn't really taken her the full 60 days to discover that they were incompatible.

WORK DELAYED

Laying of Brick on Fourth Street Starts Soon.

State highway officials said today that laying of brick on East Fourth street will not be started before tomorrow or Saturday. Work of laying brick was to have started yesterday but was delayed while equipment was being conditioned.

State officials said concrete was being made ready for the sand cushion today and as soon as the contractor moved his men on the project work would get under way.

Actual brick construction will be started at North Diamond street and move west towards Mulberry street, the three-block section expected to be finished in 10 days.

BUCKEYE O.N.G. PREPARED FOR SERVICE CALL

Light Says Guardsmen Can Be Mobilized Within 24 Hours by State.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—A "home guard" to protect Ohio and other states in case of disaster or civil disorder while the national guard is on active duty may be established by future federal legislation.

Major General Gilson D. Light, Ohio's adjutant general, said today he understood that such legislation was contemplated in Washington.

It has been reported reliably that the Ohio national guard will be called for active duty at Camp Shelby, Miss., on Oct. 16. However, there has been no official confirmation of this date and some Ohio officers have thought they would be called in November or December.

Gen. Light said that the Ohio guard could be mobilized within 24 hours. Detailed plans for mobilization of 8,500 of the 11,500 Ohio guardsmen who are members of the 37th division for duty at Camp Shelby have not been completed, however.

Several Ohio outfits will train elsewhere than at Camp Shelby. These include the 112th observation squadron which possibly will train at Columbia, S. C.; the 22nd reconnaissance squadron, 107th cavalry, troop A of the 122nd medical squadron, the second battalion of the 372nd infantry regiment.

The 37th division's tank company of Port Clinton has been redesignated as Co. C, 192nd tank battalion. Gen. Light said the tank company probably would be expanded as a part of the new military program.

The cavalry will be half mechanized and half horse troops, the adjutant general said.

A rigid physical examination will be given all guardsmen called for active duty by a board of officers before they leave Ohio. Another physical test will be given at the concentration area to make certain that all men are fit for duty.

Gen. Light said he thought that resignations from the Ohio national guard would be little greater than normal, despite the call to active duty.

The Voice of BROADWAY

You Meet Such Interesting People.
(And It's The Little Things You Remember.)

Margot Grahame, the English actress, is always the most ogled creature in any room she drops into, even a very big room—because she invariably has the whitest skin, the biggest emeralds, and the reddest hair, and she wears the kind of dresses men whistle at.

Hank Greenberg, the home run hitter, often blushes when he is introduced to a pretty girl. . . .

Comedian Danny Kaye sleeps with a book in his hand. Take away the book and he gets insomnia. . . . Peggy Hopkins Joyce has never ridden in a subway.

Gene Autry, the Gielgud of the galloping cinema, is a hat forgetter. He checks his sombreros at night clubs and walks out without them. The Swing club has two of his lids right now.

Mayor LaGuardia munches filet of herring at Reuben's and slides it down with quaffs of beer. . . . Ed Wynn used to go to St. Malachy's church to light candles and pray before the opening of every one of his shows—and he never had a flop.

Celluloid thespian Alan Hale, who made a small fortune inventing those seats in movie houses that pop up as you pop up, will make another pile with a pocket fire extinguisher he just sold to an oil company.

Betty Hutton, who knocks herself out, and makes audiences dizzy, with her cataclysmic dance routines on the stage, is the most sedate waltzer on the floor when she's a night club guest.

Eugene O'Neill, who is the only Broadway playwright who was born in Times Square, comes to town only rarely—to see the six day bike races!

Ben Blue, the comedian, is one of the town's most jovial fellows, but if you criticize his rhumba, he'll offer to bet $500 right then and there that he'll out-rhumba anybody in the room—including the DeMarcos.

Mae Murray is the only gal I ever saw dance from 10 p. m., until four a. m. without losing a breath. . . . Paul Whiteman slumbers in a nightgown. . . . Marcy Westcott looks like spun candy. . . . Rudy Vallee, whose band music has set millions of feet dancing, is notoriously mediocre on the parquet.

Auriol Lee, the play director, frequently jives into 21 without a hat, because she's just lost hers; she loses them in phone booths, taxicabs, butcher shops and dentists' offices.

Errol Flynn writes his letters in green ink, and the letters he writes these days are all about Fifth Column activities in South America, which he has just toured. He says no matter what you've heard about fifth columning down there, it's ten times as bad as you've heard.

Spud Murphy, the arranger-bandleader (he used to do Benny Goodman's arranging) does his best composing in the Automat during the lunch hour rush. . . . Joan Crawford often slips her tootsies out of her shoes under night club tables, or at department store counters when she's shopping.

Jack Haley's favorite sidewalk diversion is watching street urchins dance on the Broadway street corners. Last year he spotted two youngsters he thought had talent, financed them at dancing school, and had the pleasure of seeing them make good on the Borscht circuit.

If you run across a lad who's built like a chopping block and has red wind-blown hair and he's not wearing a necktie even though he's imbibing his grog in the elegant confines of the Stork or 21, that's Jim Tully. He's one of the two or three who can get by with it.

Carrie Munn, whose hats used to be the subject of frequent paragraphs on the society, amusement, sports, and fashion pages, is now working up a collection of earrings as startling as the chapeaux that used to titillate the Colony luncheers. . . . I've never seen David Selznick wearing a hat.

George Jean Nathan sits at night club tables and gazes at neighboring diners as if he were watching a play. It is a form of once-over-lightly calculated to make the self-conscious guest knock over a squab sur cloche.

Katherine Bush is addicted to black dresses with little white collars that give her a sophisticated schoolgirl look. . . . Laurie Douglas, the photographers' model, never wears flowers she gets from beaux. She carries her corsages in her hand.

Frank Case swears that Hendrik Van Loon often orders his dinners by drawing impressionistic sketches of what he wants on the tablecloths, and inviting the bewildered servitors to guess what he expects them to bring back. Case has a collection of what he calls late Van Loon tablecloths.

Jack Benny's pet method of relaxing is a long drive in his automobile. Humphrey Bogart, the movie bad man, reads poetry—aloud! . . . Henny Youngman is a soap box buff. He can't resist the orange box orators in Columbus Circle, and spends hours hanging around the fringes of the crowd, digesting the speeches of the comes-the-revolutionaires.

Parker Hall Leads Rams to Easy 29-0 Grid Victory

Stars Fail to Shine

Cleveland Club Registers Third Straight Win; Sarkkinnen Stars.

CLEVELAND —(AP)—The Cleveland Rams of the National football league defeated the midwest college All-Stars in a game that gave clear indication that Parker Hall is still the key man of the club.

* * *

Hall, voted the most valuable player in the league last year through his record passing, showed unexpected strength as a ball-carrier in racing through the collegians' line for two touchdowns.

* * *

The former Mississippi All-American ran 10 yards before being pulled down inches from the goal line in the first period and then took the ball over. He tallied again in the final period on a neat cutback.

Jack Nix, Mississippi State, and Marty Slovak, Toledo, posted the other six-pointers. Nix scored on a 10-yard pass from Ken Heineman, Texas Mines, and the Ohioan went over after a 23-yard sprint.

Johnny Drake, veteran fullback, and Heineman booted the extra points. Pete Gudauskas, rookie guard from Murray (Ky.) Teachers college, kicked a 39-yard field goal in the second period.

The All-Stars made some headway in midfield, but could do nothing inside Cleveland's 20-yard line.

* * *

Backs Lou Zontini and Joe Thesing of Notre Dame, End Esco Sarkkinnen of Ohio State and Back Emil Narick of Pitt sparked the collegians' play. The Rams made 10 first downs and the All-Stars three.

The charity contest, sponsored by the Cleveland News and the American Legion, attracted 22,295 and marked the professionals third consecutive victory in the series started three years ago.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The eastern All-Stars presented a "star-less" squad of gridmen before a crowd of 39,405 at the Polo Grounds last night and wound up with an impressive, 16 to 7 victory over the New York professional Giants, who never had been whipped before in eight tussles with All-Star squads from coast to coast.

Champions of the eastern division of the National league, the Giants were 1 to 3 favorites to take their fifth straight in this series, but, sparked by Merlyn Condit, a southpaw passer from Carnegie Tech who never came closer to an All-America team than seeing it in the movies, the Stars scored one touchdown in the second period, a field goal in the third and another six-pointer in the fourth to sew up the game. Condit produced nine points, six on a 92-yard run.

Merchants Play Friday

Mansfield Girls Draw Bye In Softball Tournament.

DETROIT —(AP)— Ohio's state softball champions will play their first games in the National Softball tournament here tomorrow.

The Page Dairy team of Toledo, which beat Ferguson Auditors of Columbus in the finals of the Ohio tournament earlier this week, will play the Old Pals of Williamsport, Pa., champions of that state, at 10 a. m., Friday.

* * *

The Mansfield merchants team, Ohio girls' champions, are to meet the North Carolina champs at noon Friday. Mansfield drew a first round bye.

The Mansfield girls came through with a brilliant 3-2 victory over North Ridgeville in the finals of the Ohio tournament last week after trying for years to win the state title.

The Mansfield girls have one of the finest infields of any feminine team in the country. First Baseman Evelyn Jecha, Shortstop Mary Helde, and Third Baseman Emma Schuster have been playing together for about 10 years, since they were in grade school.

The Ohio team's pitching staff are Betty Garford, a left-hander from Elyria, O., and Fran Clark, a right-hander from Ashland, O.

Ohio also will be represented in the national tourney by men's and women's softball teams from the metropolitan Cleveland and Cincinnati district, which play their own elimination tournaments.

STAGE BOAT RACES

The Pleasant Hill boat club will stage races at the Pleasant Hill Dam at 2 p. m. Sunday, club officials announced today. Boats from Michigan, Indiana as well as Ohio will participate in the events.

Pictured above is the Mansfield Tygers' "pony" backfield which Coach Paul Snyder hopes will answer his prayer for a hard-charging foursome. These lads, all juniors, were used in a number of games last fall and Snyder was impressed by their speed and fight. They are, left to right, LeRoy "Lightning" Jones, halfback; Adam Brandt, fullback; Bill Doolittle, quarterback, and Jim Templeton, halfback. The boys are working out twice daily with the 80-odd candidates at Stadium field. Snyder and his youngsters will stage their first practice under the floodlights at 8 p. m. today. It will mark the initial time the new lighting system has been turned on.

Playing in the league for the first time, the Furnitures finished the season sporting a three-point lead over the runner-up City News foursome.

The matches of the postponed affairs were completed at Possum Run yesterday and the final standings rested on the outcome of the setups.

The new champions, paced by Paul Kelley, waltzed through their final match in an easy manner while the best the City News could do was to take a 3 to 2 decision from the Junior Association of Commerce club.

* * *

Kelley, who had a 38, tied with Homer King of the Central Fruit outfit. King led the Central team to a 3 to 2 triumph over the News-Journal team.

In the other match played, the Tinkey Lumbers chalked up a 4 to 1 victory over the Bissman company entry. Don Doty paced the Tinkey club with an even 40.

WEMCOS BEAT CABS

The Wemcos defeated the Safety Cabs 5 to 3 in a postponed Independent league game played yesterday at North Lake park. Harold Geiger worked on the mound for the Wemco team and Fred Carver twirled for the Cabs. The box score of the game was not turned in.

Senators Tumble Yanks Into Third Place In League Race

THE Detroit Tigers, creaking with old age at nearly every joint, have turned the American league pennant scramble inside out again.

* * *

They crushed the Cleveland Indians, 7-2, yesterday with almost unbelievable ferocity while the Washington Senators pounced upon the New York Yankees, 6-5. Between the two upheavals the whole championship outlook was covered with confusion.

* * *

The victory lifted the Tigers back into second place, three games back of the Tribe.

The Yankees were victims of Lefty Joe Krakauskas, who hadn't won a game all season until yesterday. He was in frequent trouble, but tight in the pinches, and twice set down the champs without a score after they had loaded the bases.

The Boston Red Sox hovered close to pennant contenders by sweeping two extra-inning games from the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-5 and 5-4.

The St. Louis Browns continued to make trouble by whipping the Chicago White Sox, 4-1, with Bob Harris scattering eight hits.

In the National league, the champion Cincinnati Reds copped their 33rd one-run victory with a 3-2, 12-inning verdict over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a night game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals maintained their margins behind the leaders by winning night encounters. Luke Hamlin pitched the Dodgers to a 3-0 shutout over the last-place Phillies.

* * *

Max Lanier performed the mound chore for the Cardinals, holding the Chicago Cubs scoreless for seven innings, but getting help from Clyde Shoun in the ninth before winning, 4-2.

* * *

One of the season's finest pitching duels was rendered by Dick Errickson of the Boston Bees and Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants as the Bees scored a 2-0 shutout. The only runs of the game came on a homer by Eddie Miller in the seventh inning. Errickson allowed five hits.

Supplies, Bantams Hold Sessions at Davey Field.

The Mansfield bantamweight football team will start daily workouts at Davey field today along with the Automotive Supply semi-pro squad. Both aggregations will hold practice sessions at 6 p. m. daily until the season opens. Coach Earl McMullen's Supplies, seeking more material, will launch their season in about two weeks, Fred Rizzo, business manager stated today. The bantams open their 1940 schedule by invading Canton Sunday, Sept. 22. Pilot Hank Richards of the bantams is also after talent.

Birds Halt Braves

Fostoria Ends Win Streak With 5-4 Triumph; Tiffin Here Today.

A MANSFIELD BRAVES' winning streak that had extended to seven straight victories was halted by the Fostoria Red Birds who nosed out the Braves 5 to 4 in an Ohio State league contest at the Fairground park last night.

Although the Braves outhit the Red Birds 10 to 6, they were unable to overcome a lead which Fostoria held from the first inning when they scored their initial run.

The Braves return to the Fairground at 8:30 tonight to meet Tiffin in an Ohio State league contest. As a preliminary game, Galion will meet Liberty Park in a North Central Ohio baseball league contest. This game is scheduled for 7 p. m.

The Braves were shut out until the seventh frame when Woodling scored their first tally on a long fly by Manager Stover who batted for Beyers.

They added two more runs in the eighth and one in the ninth. The Red Birds added their second run in the third inning and three more tallies in their half of the seventh.

Laurila and Drewek divided the mound assignment for the Braves, allowing the Red Birds only six hits. Laurila during his turn on the mound struck out eight and Drewek three.

The Braves collected 10 hits off the pitching of Pontone and Feeney. Beals, Mangan and Morse led the Braves' batting attack each getting two hits.

Fendrick Seeks Grid Talent to Fill Vacancies

Squad of 42 Work Out Under Madison Coach; Seven Veterans Return This Year.

A SQUAD of 42 young hopefuls reported to Coach Al Fendrick at Madison high school yesterday as the Rams' 1940 football season got under way.

Fendrick was greeted at the initial practice session by one of the largest turnouts of football candidates at the school since 1934.

Included among the 42 who reported to Fendrick were nine freshmen, constituting one of the largest freshmen squads in the school's history. Last year's team was made up of only three freshmen.

* * *

These Freshmen proved to be the bright spot of the initial session, according to Coach Fendrick who said the freshmen "look good." "The team as a whole is in poor condition and needs a lot of work," Fendrick commented.

* * *

In addition to being one of the largest squads to report to Fendrick, it is also one of the lightest he has ever had to work with. Its average top weight is 150 pounds.

The 1940 Rams will be built around seven veterans, five linemen and two backs. The linemen are Bob Heichel, Bill Folmer, Bob Fletcher, Russell Price and John Chuhaloff, and Harold Hammer and Walt Weimes are the two veteran backs.

Fendrick this year has the services of Al Kipp who is acting as assistant coach. The Rams launch their 1940 schedule Friday, Sept. 13, when they meet Wooster high at Wooster.

Terry May Replace Vitt At Cleveland

DETROIT — (U.P.) — Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants leads the field in speculation about a successor for Oscar Vitt if the grizzled Cleveland pilot should be fired Frank Gibbons of the Cleveland Press wrote today.

* * *

Terry, long unpopular with New York baseball writers, has been getting along poorly this season with his Giants now buried in the National league second division

* * *

Gibbons said that Terry has admitted privately he would come to Cleveland under "certain conditions." Alva Bradley Cleveland owner, has long admired Terry, Gibbons added Terry draws approximately $40,000 annually from the Giants

Tigers Take Second

Trounce Feller to Grab Runner-Up Berth; Smith to Hurl.

DETROIT — (AP) — The American league pennant race picture is changed again today with Detroit bouncing back as runner-up and chief contender by trouncing Bob Feller and the leading Cleveland Indians.

Both Tigers and Indians go into the second game of their series today feeling they are battling their chief opponents for world series rights, with New York shoved into third place by defeat at Washington.

* * *

The Indians' pennant hopes were jarred far more by First Baseman Hal Trosky's injury than the 7-2 loss of the first game of the series here

The Tribe's number one hitter pulled a leg muscle in rounding second base His leg stiffened and he had to retire in the sixth, Oscar Grimes taking his place.

"Trosky will be out for an indefinite period," Manager Oscar Vitt growled. "You don't get over an injury of that kind in a day"

Trosky scored the only two Cleveland runs. He drove a home run in the second inning and singled in the fourth to score on Ray Mack's triple.

Feller was obviously off form and the Tigers hammered him for 11 hits in seven innings It was his eighth defeat this year against 23 victories. Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe limited the Tribe to seven hits and bore down in many a bad spot with runners on base.

Mike Naymick, the young giant hurler, was recalled yesterday from Wilkes Barre, Pa., and was called into action in the ninth taking Feller's place to retire the last three Tiger batters in order.

Al Smith of Cleveland and Tommy Bridges of Detroit had the call today for mound duty in the second of the three-game series. Smith has beaten the Tigers twice and lost to them once this season. It is Bridges' first tussle with the Tribe this year

Grimes still has not recovered fully from the injury he suffered in May when a batted ball struck him in the face during practice.

* * *

The Indians bought Dewey Adkins, 21-year-old right-handed pitcher, from Oklahoma City for delivery after the close of the Texas league season He has won eight games and lost one in the last six weeks

DETROIT—(AP)—Life among the Indians—that is, Cleveland's Indians of the American league—must be a long way from joyous nowadays even though a big bag of gold may be awaiting them from the world series.

Veteran baseball followers say that never in the organized game's history has a team been dealt with as harshly by fandom as the Indians have been, and the clamor for the scalps of the Tribe is reaching a new peak in the current Tiger series.

Witness what they encountered when they came to Detroit yesterday.

Across six columns of a sports page in one city newspaper were six pictures—of six bawling babies. Just above, over an article on the series, was the headline:

"A good cry, like Cleveland's, might aid Tigers."

In a rival paper a writer dubbed the Indians "Squeaking Papooses" and "Assistant Bosses."

All this related back to the falling-out of some of the Indians with Manager Oscar Vitt a few weeks ago and their complaint to the front office.

Redlegs Rally To Turn Back St. Louis Club

Cincy Tallies Winning Runs In 12th Frame; Walters Stops Cardinals.

CINCINNATI—(AP)— Some years ago, possibly a day or so after Colonel Abner Doubleday invented the game back in 1839, a shrewd observer of the game called baseball said: "Don't leave the park until the last man is out."

* * *

If nobody else in the world had ever proved this little aphorism, the Cincinnati Reds did it last night as they came from behind a table full of eight balls to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 2, in 12 foggy innings.

* * *

The 30,000-odd fans knew from the start that it was going to be a humdinger of a ball game, what with Bucky Walters and Max Butcher heaving goose eggs.

Came the 11th and Lonnie Frey bobbled a grounder by Debs Garms, Bob Elliott singled, Elbie Fletcher walked, and two long flies brought in two.

Lew Riggs and Ernie Lombardi batted for Billy Myers and Walters and both bounced out. Only Bill Werber stood between Butcher and his third victory over the Reds. But he singled.

Mike McCormick followed up with a single and Ival Goodman walked. Danny MacFayden walked Frank McCormick and a run was in and Danny walked out.

Mace Brown came in, hit Jimmy Ripple and the game was tied up. Jim Wilson bounced out but that merely postponed the final matter.

Joe Beggs picked off the Pirates in order in the top of the 12th, but Brown went to the crowded shower room when he walked Lonnie Frey to open the Reds' half. Dick Lanahan allowed Eddie Joost to single sending Frey to third.

* * *

Beggs tapped to the mound and Lonnie was out at the plate. Bill Werber then slipped the ball into right center, Eddie came in, the Reds were still eight games ahead of Brooklyn and Beggs had his tenth relief victory of the year.

* * *

Today's game, the last the Reds play here until a final three-game series with these same Pirates, may show whether Johnny Vander Meer is a big league pitcher again. Manager Bill McKechnie of the Reds said he'd pitch either Vandy, or Gene Thompson, probably against Johnny Lanning.

Birds Rally To Whip Toledo

Columbus Comes From Behind to Register 6-2 Win.

(By Associated Press)

The Columbus Red Birds, who have been playing better than .800 percentage baseball in the American association since July 28, gave another example of how they do it last night.

The Birds were forced 11 innings by the Toledo Mudhens, who twice rallied to tie the score. But in the 11th Columbus cut loose with a four run barrage that settled the contest, 6 to 2.

* * *

The victory, the 33rd for Columbus in its last 41 games, kept Kansas City's first place advantage to six games inasmuch as the Blues lost to Milwaukee. More than that, it kept the Pards a game and a half ahead of Minneapolis which also won.

Southpaw Ernie White paved the way for Columbus by limiting Toledo to six hits.

Harry Smythe also turned in a six-hit performance as Minneapolis again defeated St. Paul this time 7 to 3. A third six-hitter was produced at Louisville where Earl Caldwell of Indianapolis shut out the Colonels 2 to 0.

* * *

At Kansas City, Milwaukee leaped on two Blue hurlers for six runs in the first inning and added three more in the second, winning 10 to 8.

CONN, PASTOR TANGLE IN NEW YORK FRIDAY NIGHT

NEW YORK—(AP)—There's to be a fight at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night between Billy Conn, the light heavyweight champion, and Bob Pastor.

Promoter Mike Jacobs predicts a good gate. Billy once was a lopsided favorite but now the oddsmakers give him only a 5 to 8 edge. Conn scaled 178 after his final hard workout yesterday and Pastor 188.

Waldorf Faces Real Task With Wildcats

(Editor's Note: Following is the first of a series of stories previewing the football teams of the Western conference.)

By HARRY C. WARREN

EVANSTON, Ill.—(INS)—Genial Lynn Waldorf, football coach at Northwestern university, has a lease on the "crying room" of the Western conference, it appeared today as the Wildcats get ready for the opening of gridiron practice.

Waldorf, not given usually to a Gil Dobie complex, practically goes into a swoon as he glances at Northwestern's ambitious football schedule — Syracuse, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Indiana, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan and Notre Dame—on successive Saturdays.

Six Big Ten games ordinarily represent a cup full of grief for any team and with the addition of Syracuse and Notre Dame it is easy to understand why Coach Waldorf's cup is bubbling over. The schedule is given more importance when it is considered that Northwestern finished in a tie with Michigan for fourth place in the Big Ten last season, winning three, tying one and losing two. In Western conference competition last season, Northwestern was not too impressive in running up 47 points as against 37 points for the Wildcats' opponents.

Waldorf lost 17 lettermen, all but one via the graduation route. Of the 17 men, seven were first stringers. Fred Dahlkamp, a tackle, of whom great things were expected during the forthcoming campaign, is definitely sidelined for the season as the result of an automobile accident.

Burt Ingwersen, Northwestern line coach, faces quite a task in trying to replace such men as all-American Johnny Haman, at center, Nick Cutlich and Frank Young, at tackle, Hal Method and Don Guritz, guards, and Bob Daly and Ted Grefe, regular ends. Ingwersen has one regular lineman—Corne Aarts, as a key man for rebuilding a forward wall.

If Bill de Correvont was regarded as a human question mark when he started college competition last season, he has a copyright on that department this season as the result of a mid-summer appendicitis operation. Just when he can enter competition this season remains problematical.

Because Northwestern called on sophomores for heavy duty in the backfield last season, the Wildcats are fairly well fortified in that department for the 1940 campaign.

Waldorf will have, besides De Correvont, such performers as Don Clawson, Don Kruger, Ike Kepford, Capt. Dick Richards, Paul Soper and Ollie Hahnenstein for backfield work again this year.

All in all Northwestern does not appear too impressive on paper, but after the Syracuse and Ohio State games on the first two Saturdays in October, the paper can be tossed away and the Wildcat alumni can settle for cold facts.

HITLER USED TACTICS THAT BEAT ROMANS

Belgian Thrust Was Same Ruse Employed by Hannibal In Cannae Battle.

WASHINGTON—The Holocaust that began with Germany's march into Poland on September 1, 1939, has given the world a new conception of the speed and power with which machines can execute the familiar broad plan of war.

As one military expert puts it: "This conflict has brought the first application of the internal combustion engine to warfare on a grand scale."

So far as strategy is concerned, this expert thinks the Germans used about the same broad plan in the battle of Flanders as Hannibal did when his Carthaginians gave the Romans their worst defeat in history on the Italian battlefield of Cannae 216 years before Christ.

In the battle of Cannae, Hannibal's forces first atacked near the center of their line, then slowly withdrew to draw the counter-attacking Romans into a cr ded pocket.

Both right and left wings of the Carthaginians then swept forward swiftly, all but surrounding the pocketed fighters and driving them together so closely that they had little room in which to wield their swords. Finally, cavalry r o d e through what remained of the mouth of the pocket and slaughtered the closely-packed Romans.

In drawing a parallel between this classic military strategy and that employed by the Germans in Flanders, it is pointed out the Nazis struck against Holland and Belgium and thus drew the French and British into the low countries.

German commanders were all aware that British troops could not afford to sit idly behind the "little Maginot" line and see the capture of Dutch and Belgian ports from which air raiders could reach England easily.

They were aware also that France, having failed to build a full-strength Maginot line between itself and Belgium, counted on the Albert canal and Belgian fortifications to help repulse the invaders.

The Allied troops rushed, then, to protect their vital interests in the invaded countres.

No sooner had they done so than the Nazis, with their marvelously co-ordinated use of dive bombers, tanks and infantry, broke through at Sedan and raced for the coast in a vast enveloping movement.

Only the miracle of Dunkirgue saved the pocketed allies from complete encirclement and annihilation. The Germans tried to do, with planes and artillery, what the calvary did in the last chapter of Cannae.

But British planes fought the Nazi raiders to a standstill, and heroic rear guard actions kept enemy troops away from the port at Dunkirkque, until thousands of British and French soldiers had been taken to England through the narrow mouth of the pocket.

SHOWING GAIN

Bank Clearings for August Increase $842,345.

Mansfield bank clearings in August showed a gain of $842,345 over August, 1939, but dropped off slightly from the July totals, Barney Burns, secretary of the Clearing House association, reported today.

The August clearings amounted to $7,742,304 and boosted the total for the first eight months of this year to $61,519,205, a gain of approximately $6,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1939, Burns said.

Clearing last August were $6,899,959, while in July 1940, they amounted to $7,874,369.

Refugee Milked Cow In Field During Air Attack.

LONDON — (AP) — A Belgian woman refugee told how she milked a cow in a Belgian field while German planes flew overhead.

During one of the train's frequent halts between Antwerp and Ypres, Mrs. Renee Thorn jumped out to get some milk for three babies. Bullets fell around her as she filled several empty beer bottles and then ran back to the train.
